Fair Enough
by WESTBROOK PEGLER

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—As some may remember, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt recently entertained at the summer home of the president of the United States on Campobello island something called the Summer Student Leadership Institute. Among those prominently present along with Justice Felix Frankfurter of the United States supreme court and dear old Dr. William Allna Neilson, president emeritus of Smith college, was a veteran member of the younger generation and career man of the youth business, Joseph Lash. The frequent presence of Mr. Lash in the White House surely may be taken as evidence that Mrs. Roosevelt regards him as a pretty nice example of and for American youth and his presence at the Student Leadership Institute at Campobello seems equally indicative that she regards him as one who is equipped, intellectually and morally, for leadership among American students.

With this preamble, let us now cast aside the bigoted record of the Dies committee which discovered Mrs. Roosevelt's young friend often in the company of Communist youth. Let us consider something else in order to obtain a fair impression.

Let us frisk the files of Liberty magazine and the Communist publication, the New Masses, to the autumn of 1935.

In the issue of the New Masses dated September 3, 1935, the lead story is a charming expression of an American daughter's devotion, entitled My Father Is a Liar! written by Nancy Bedford-Jones, whose age at the time was 17. This work, breathing the very spirit of high-spirited, advanced American youth, was a reply to a piece published in Liberty by someone who wrote under the name of Shaw.

Miss Bedford-Jones declared that this was a pen name adopted for this special occasion by her father, H. Bedford-Jones, a professional fictioneer. Nancy said Shaw's article in Liberty was a pack of lies about her, although her name was not mentioned and she was not otherwise identified.

Impression Grows In Berlin That Leningrad Soon To Fall

Smolensk Battle Said To Be Going In Favor Of Soviets

TOKYO, Aug. 1.—(AP)—Domei, Japanese news agency, today quoted Japanese embassy sources in Moscow as saying that Siberian railroads were crowded with refugees fleeing from Leningrad and other cities in the path of the German offensive.

Passenger train schedules were said to be completely disrupted by the exodus and the demands for military transportation.

Many troop trains were reported moving eastward toward Omsk, which is about 1,300 miles from Moscow. Traffic east of Omsk was said to be mostly in a westward direction.

BERLIN, Aug. 1.—(AP)—A high command communique of extraordinary brevity reported steady progress on the eastern front today as Germans, stirred by other war advices, waited to hear that German armies might soon be hammering at the very gates of Leningrad.

Reverting again to a broad picture, barren of any detail, the bulletin from Adolf Hitler's headquarters devoted only two sentences to the whole war with Soviet Russia. It said:

"Battles on the east front continue to develop in our favor.

"Warplanes last night bombarded military objectives in Moscow."

DNB, official German news agency, said that German troops had forced a passage across the lower reaches

Service Extension Compromise Made

Measure's Sponsors Agree On 18-Month Extra Period In Army

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—(AP)—Senator Hill, Democrat, Alabama, said today that sponsors had agreed to compromise army service extension legislation to provide a maximum of 2 1-2 years of service for citizen soldiers.

Hill told reporters that proponents were attempting to work out an amendment which would limit to 18 months the additional service that any selectee, national guardsman, reserve or regular enlisted man might be called on to undergo.

This 18 months extension, he said, would be in addition to the 12 months selectees, guardsmen and reservists now are required to serve.

Some regular army enlisted men are serving one year tenures and others three year periods. The same 18-months extension would apply to them, Hill said.

The Alabaman emphasized that the additional 18 months was the maxi-

MEXICO GIVES NAZI REQUEST FIRM REJECTION

ENCOURAGING TO U. S.

Tangible Evidence Of Intention To Cooperate With America Given

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—(AP)—Sumner Welles, acting secretary of state, accused Germany today of barefaced impudence in urging Mexico to protest to the United States over the blacklisting of Latin-American firms catalogued as pro-axis.

Welles asserted that the German government had violated and destroyed the sovereignty of many countries.

Therefore, he said, it was nothing more or less than barefaced impudence for Germany to try to tell Mexico or any other country what it should do to protect its sovereign rights.

Moreover, he declared that Mexico did not require any advice from Germany.

Welles made this press conference comment on the action of Mexico in strongly rejecting a German request that it protest the United States action of blacklisting hundreds of firms in Latin-America deemed to be operating for the benefit of the axis.

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 1.—(AP)—Mexico, rejecting with a stern rebuke a German government request that she protest President Roosevelt's blacklist of pro-axis firms here, provided tangible evidence today of her intention to cooperate with the United States in solving mutual problems created by the European war.

Mexico told Germany she regarded the request as not only imperious but threatening, and declared she would brook no interference from abroad in the formulation of her national policies.

She took exception particularly to the German assertion that "resigned acceptance" of Washington's anti-axis measures could not fail to influence the attitude of the Berlin government

LONDON SOURCES SAY OCCUPATION IS ALTERNATIVE

TUTUILA CASE CLOSED

Japanese To Take Measures To Prevent Another Bombing Incident

LONDON, Aug. 1.—(AP)—Japan has demanded military bases in Thailand and control of that country's rubber, rice and tin production, it was reported authoritatively here today. Japan was said to have offered in exchange restoration of the province of Laos and the ancient city of Angkor, both in Japanese-dominated French Indo-China.

It was believed in London that Thailand's only alternative to granting bases would be forcible Japanese occupation of them.

(Tokyo announced today an agreement between Japan and Thailand under which Japan gained a large credit for purchases in Thailand, mostly rice, it is presumed.)

Thailand lies partly on the Malay peninsula, which is tipped by Britain's Singapore fortress, and shares the peninsula for a stretch between Burma and Singapore.

Since Thailand extends to within 400 miles of Singapore the danger of such concessions, in the British view, is easily seen. By occupation of Thailand's part of the Malay peninsula, the Japanese could isolate Singapore from any assistance by land from Burma and India.

By creating bases on the western shore of the peninsula the Japanese could threaten Burma and India herself by air. There, however, Japanese planes would have to cross the

SICILY ATTACKED BY BRITISH PLANES

ROME, Aug. 1.—(AP)—British warplanes attacked several places on the island of Sicily yesterday afternoon, causing some civilian casualties and minor damage, the Italian high command said today.

One person was reported killed and several injured at Messina, where buildings were said to have been damaged.

At Palermo anti-aircraft fire drove off the raiders and they dropped their bombs in the sea, the communique said.

Italian dive bombers were credited with sinking a British submarine in the Mediterranean, and fighters escorting an Italian convoy were said to have scattered attacking British aircraft. One of the British planes was reported downed.

The communique declared that Fascist planes also had bombed the British Mediterranean base at Malta again during the night and Stefani, official Italian news agency, said an industrial plant and port facilities were hit.

The high command acknowledged the loss of four officers and four seamen in an attack against Malta by torpedo boats last week. Nineteen others were reported missing.

DEMANDS HEAD FOR CONFERENCE

Capital Meeting Slated After Aluminum Firm Rejects Proposal

(By Associated Press)

Demands of C. I. O. aluminum workers for elimination of a sectional wage differential headed toward a Washington conference today.

After the Aluminum Company of America flatly rejected the demands last night at a meeting in Pittsburgh, N. A. Zonarich, union president, appealed to Sidney Hillman, associate director of the Office of Production Management, to intervene in the dispute. Zonarich said Hillman had asked him and the union committee to come to Washington for talks.

The union leader declared that aluminum workers at Badin, N. C., and Alcoa, Tenn., are being paid from 2 to 18 per cent less than those at New Kensington, Pa., for the same type of work. The company said the common labor hiring rate in the two southern communities was 55 cents an hour and that the management would "continue to pay the prevailing wage rate or better in any community in which its plants are located."

A. C. I. O. shipbuilders union at Jersey City, N. J., yesterday rejected a new working contract offered by the Federal Shipbuilding and Dry Dock company, Kearny, N. J., and the union's executive board issued a statement saying "it may be necessary to take a strike vote."

The union claims as members 14,000 of the 17,000 employes at the shipyard. The proffered contract made provision

HARRIMAN ON WAY BACK TO AMERICA

LONDON, Aug. 1.—(AP)—W. Averell Harriman, coordinator of the United States aid-to-Britain program, has left England by plane for the United States to report to President Roosevelt.

Harriman's departure was disclosed by the United States embassy, but the announcement failed to say exactly when he left or when he was expected to return. He was accompanied by his assistant, Robert Meikeljohn.

It was Harriman's first trip home since he came to London March 15.

After a busy survey of Britain's requirements, Harrison flew to Cairo in mid-June for a similar checkup on the situation in the middle east and came back to London two weeks ago.

He had a hurried meeting with Harry L. Hopkins, administrator of the lease-lend program, before the latter left for Moscow earlier this week.

PERFECT PLANS FOR GASOLINE STATION CURFEW

Ickes May Take More Drastic Action If Blackout Fails

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—(AP)—In the face of predictions that the nightly closing of service stations in Atlantic seaboard states would cause unemployment, Secretary of Interior Ickes and the oil industry perfected plans today to apply the curfew next Sunday, with more drastic action to conserve motor fuel supplies indicated should this blackout fail.

Oil men accepted the proclamation closing down an estimated 100,000 gasoline stations from 7 p.m. to 7 a.m., seven days a week, as showing Ickes' determination to meet the predicted eastern fuel shortage, even to the extent of adopting rationing, if need developed.

Ickes, who is defense petroleum coordinator, said in announcing the curfew yesterday that if the new step failed to cut consumption precipitately, "it then must be followed by other steps to accomplish our ends."

In New York, Louis Kimmel, manager of the gasoline merchants of Brooklyn and Queens, estimated that the night shutdowns would cost 100,000 men their jobs—10,000 in metropolitan New York alone. Further, he said he believed the curfew could not be made fully effective without a government order.

Ickes said yesterday, however, that the oil companies themselves had recommended the night closing program, and indicated that he expected those companies would see that any recalcitrant dealers fell into line. While he expressed doubt that the government had authority to prosecute stations which failed to close, Ickes added that cooperation of the industry should obviate any need for attempted court action.

He said he saw no serious unemployment in the offing as a result of the station closing.

While the petroleum coordinator appeared optimistic that cooperation by the industry and the public would make more severe measures unnecessary, some of his aides were known to feel that nothing short of direct rationing would close the gap between supply and demand, caused by the

'CHUTE TROOPS TAKE ECUADOREAN CITIES

LIMA, Peru, Aug. 1.—(AP)—Peruvian parachute troops were reported today to have captured the Ecuadorean cities of Puerto Bolivar and Machala only a few hours before a truce ended three weeks of border war between the two countries at 6 o'clock last evening.

Introduction of European blitzkrieg tactics for the first time in the western hemisphere was disclosed in a Peruvian communique which claimed a brilliant victory over Ecuador's armed forces.

Before the cease-fire order was given, the communique said, Peruvian troops had regained all territory seized by the Ecuadorian army since July 6, when a 100-year-old boundary dispute flared into open war.

Chief Executive Lauds Resistance Of Soviets

Mills And Witness In Fist Fight

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—(AP)—A congressman's punch to a witness' jaw climaxed a stormy house committee hearing today on the government's efforts to take over a Washington apartment for office purposes.

The two involved were Representative Newt Mills, Democrat, Louisiana, and George Reedy, former Chicago newspaperman now working for the New York newspaper PM and, on the side, acting as spokesman for the apartment's tenants.

Reedy went up to Mills after the committee session to demand that the congressman retract questions implying that Reedy once had written stories for Al Capone. From there on, the versions differed.

"Without answering and without warning, he hit me twice on the chin," said Reedy.

"He called me an offensive name and I swung at him," said Mills. "I don't even know whether I hit him or not."

Mills is slender and weighs considerably less than Reedy and the latter showed no sign of injury after the encounter.

"He couldn't break an egg," Reedy commented. He did not retaliate.

F. D. R. Says Efforts Better Than Nazi Experts Thought

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—(AP)—President Roosevelt asserted today that Russia's resistance to the axis war machine was "magnificent" and "frankly better than any military expert in Germany thought it would be."

That was his reply at a press conference—he authorized direct quotes—to an inquiry on what he thought of Russian resistance to date. He said:

"It is magnificent and frankly better than any military expert in Germany thought it would be."

When a reporter, referring to Adolf Hitler, asked whether Mr. Roosevelt included Germany's outstanding military expert among those surprised at the Russian resistance, the president suggested that newsmen not spill the story.

A laugh was his only response to another question—whether Germany had been doing some tall lying.

The chief executive said that Rus-

SAY ARGENTINA NOT TO AID BLACKLIST

BUENOS AIRES, Aug. 1.—(AP)—Authoritative diplomatic sources said today that Argentina intends to withhold support from the United States blacklist of Latin-American firms suspected of trading with the axis.

Thus, they said, a hole is threatened in the economic dam Washington is trying to build to halt the flow of money and materials from the western hemisphere to the axis powers.

These sources said Argentine law prevents complete effectiveness of any ban against dealings with the blacklisted firms if Argentina does not went to cooperate.

Such a situation was not believed to be paralleled in any other Latin-American country but these informants deemed it of high importance because more of the listed firms are in Argentina than in any other country.

SELMAN FIELD PROGRAM GETS OFFICIAL OKAY

CAA Approves $388,000 Expenditure Recently Voted By Congress

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—(Special)—Approval of a $388,000 improvement program for Selman field at Monroe, La., has been given by the Civil Aeronautics authority from funds recently voted by congress, officials today notified Senator Allen J. Ellender.

The project as approved calls for the construction of 4,000-foot paved runways and installation of lighting and other equipment to make it a top-flight airport.

The Monroe project is a part of a $2,820,000 program approved for the state of Louisiana.

Allotments to the other Louisiana airports, all of which are new improvement projects, were: Lafayette, $375,000; Natchitoches, $365,000; Alexandria, $379,000; Hammond, $335,000; Houma, $380,000; airport midway between Crowley and Jennings, $370,000; completion of the New Orleans airport, $228,000.

With the exception of the Lafayette field, where 5,000-foot runways will be built, the money will provide for construction of 4,000-foot runways.

Brigadier-General Donalid H. Connolly, administrator of Civil Aeronautics, stated that it is expected that all the work in the program announced today will be completed shortly after the first of the year.

A wire received by The News-Star, Friday morning, from Representative Newt V. Mills stated that the Selman field program contemplates the construction of north-south and east-west landing strips, 400 feet by 4,200 feet, and the paving of 150 feet by 4,000 feet of runways thereon. Paving of 50-foot wide taxiways also is provided for, it was stated. Installation of basic lighting and contact lights on runways also is included.

Action of the CAA in making appropriation of $388,000 for airport development here is in accord with action taken by the Ouachita parish police jury and the taxpayers of Ouachita parish. On July 15, by a large majority vote, the parish approved the levying of a one-mill tax for five years to raise an estimated $200,000

REQUESTS GERMANS TO REMOVE RADIO

BUENOS AIRES Aug. 1.—(AP)—Argentina has requested German Ambassador Edmund von Thermann to re-export or destroy a radio transmitter which has caused diplomatic unrest here with Germany, foreign office sources said.

The foreign office was understood to have taken the position that presence of the radio in Argentina constituted a possible violation of The Hague convention prohibiting belligerents from installing wireless stations in neutral countries and communicating with fighting forces on sea or land.

The transmitter, seized by a congressional committee investigating anti-Argentine activities, was returned Tuesday to the German embassy after the latter had protested the action as a violation of diplomatic practice.

COST CUT FROM FUNDS DUE CITY

State Orders Orleans' Part Of Voting Machine Price Deducted

BATON ROUGE, La., Aug. 1.—(AP)—Attorney General Eugene Stanley today advised Treasurer A. P. Tugwell to deduct New Orleans' share of the cost of voting machines for use in that city from funds the state is due to remit to the city.

The city previously had contended it was financially unable to pay at present more than $25,000 of the $247,080 which represented half the cost of the machines.

The state attempted to go through with the purchase by advancing the difference, but was enjoined from paying more than its half of the cost.

Stanley's letter to Tugwell said the state had on hand "almost $2,000,000 as the city's share of the homestead property tax relief money which will be paid the city at the end of 1941."

FORECASTS LESS DEATHS IN ARMY

Doctor Says Medical Science More Effective Than In 1917

CHICAGO, Aug. 1.—(AP)—Unless some new cause of death turns up, disease should kill far fewer members of Uncle Sam's new army than it did among the doughboys of 1917-1918.

This opinion was expressed today by Dr. O. H. Perry Pepper of Philadelphia, chairman of the committee on medicine of the National Research council, in the current issue of War Medicine, published bi-monthly by the American Medical association cooperating with the council.

Dr. Pepper's forecast was predicated on a study of statistics of the army during the World war and an analysis of present day knowledge of how more effectively to prevent, diagnose and treat diseases which attacked it.

It is surely justifiable to believe, he said, that few, if any, of the disorders due to lack of sufficient vitamins will occur in the new, well fed army. Beri-beri and pellagra, he predicted, will not reappear, at least under those headings.

In the 33 months from April 1, 1917, to December 31, 1919, there were 2,235,-... enlisted men and officers in the army. Of these, disease killed 34,858, or 15.59 a thousand. Influenza, lobar pneumonia, bronchopneumonia, measles, tuberculosis and meningococcic meningitis accounted for 88 per cent of the deaths.

"Influenza may reappear, but, it may be hoped, not to the same extent and not with the same serious complications," Dr. Pepper said.

"Little can be done to prevent measles and mumps. Already these are running high in the hospital admissions of the new army.

"Tuberculosis of the lungs, it is to be hoped, will be greatly reduced as a result of more careful preservice examinations with Roentgen control.

"Meningococcic meningitis may perhaps be kept to a lower level by more prompt diagnosis and more successful treatment of patients and carriers with sulfanilamide and its derivatives; certainly death from the disease should be less frequent."

Dr. Pepper said an improvement in typhoid fever figures could be anticipated, that there was less excuse for even a single case of smallpox, and that tetanus could be eliminated.

WOUNDED BY SHOT FIRED BY TROUSERS

NEW LONDON, Conn., Aug. 1.—(AP)—Herbert Brewster, 17, was wounded by a bullet from a .22-caliber rifle which was discharged—by a pair of trousers.

Explaining the freak mishap, Patrolman Carlos Stone said young Brewster, disrobing for bed last night, tossed his trousers toward a chair. His aim was poor, the officer said, the trousers struck the rifle, rung on the bedroom wall as an ornament, and it went off in falling.

Attendants at a hospital here reported that Brewster was wounded in the chest, four inches above the heart, and described his condition as serious but not critical.

SOLDIERS ATTACK AMUSEMENT PARK

TRURO, Nova Scotia, Aug. 1.—(AP)—Only a ferris wheel stood today amidst the wreckage of an amusement park attacked in a revenge raid by 500 Canadian soldiers after one of their comrades was shot during an argument.

Another 145 police arrived and cleared the grounds but the soldiers made a second charge to finish up.

It was reported the soldier wounded was shot when an argument developed between the proprietor of the show and another civilian in the soldier's presence. The proprietor was arrested.

Variety Program Is Slated For Crosley School Tonight

The young people of the First Methodist church in West Monroe will stage a "Variety Show" at Crosley school auditorium, Friday August 1 at 8 p.m. Only a modest admission will be charged and the net proceeds will be devoted to expenses incident to a week's camping at Ki-Ro-Li.

Included in the program will be a talking act, "Cy and Hy." Ray Sherrard and Hollis Weir portray a typically rustic act. Dr. J. W. Golson's quartet will be heard in popular numbers.

"Socks and Soapsuds" will be a humorous presentation of black-faced art, the principals being Annette Ragland and Marjory White.

Miss Louise Rinehart will render, "When Mother Sang to Me," a pleasing musical selection.

There will be a burlesque rendition of "Romeo and Juliet." Players in this skit will be Claude Smith, Glendadora White, Sarah Patton, Russell Stillwagon, Ted Grant, Virginia Caldwell, and Mary Sue Lockett.

A one-act play entitled, "Uncle George Pops In," will combine mystery and comedy. Kent Steele, played by Wilkins Rickerson, has been named heir to his uncle's $20,000 estate on condition that he remain single. When this uncle, played by John B. Mullins, visits Kent and his bride, a trying and humorous situation results, with Mrs. Kent played by Ouida Welch, posing as housekeeper. Jean Spencer produces many laughs as she portrays the maid in the household. Herbert Hart and Sue Simmons are cast as friends of the Steeles.

The parts have been carefully rehearsed and it is expected that a large and appreciative audience will attend.

C. OF C. PUSHES METAL SURVEY

Holland Back From Conferences With Mine Officials, Geologists

George D. Holland, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, returned to Monroe late Thursday after conferring with mine and industrial officials and geologists relative to the proposed manufacture of alumina in this vicinity.

Completion of a detailed technical study of the situation here in regard to the proposed national defense project, being prepared by Secretary Holland, is expected next week, he stated. The survey will be submitted immediately to the Office of Production Management and army ordnance officials who already have a brief giving general information of the possibilities for alumina production in this area, Mr. Holland said.

Conferences were held by the chamber secretary with officials of the Carey salt mines and Solvay limestone mine quarry in Winnfield, R. W. Hugh of the state mineral department, Dr. J. H. Huner, Jr., state geologist, A. L. Vitter, Jr., geological department of Louisiana State university, J. E. Stanford, statistician for the state board of commerce and industry, all of Baton Rouge. Discussions centered about the availability of mineral deposits entering into the proposed production of alumina.

Holland now is conferring with transportation agencies relative to rates in the movement of soda ash and bauxite to Monroe, he indicated. Information has been secured on gas rates and reserves of north Louisiana which would be utilized in the alumina manufacturing process, he said.

Clem Pizzutelli, 56-year-old grocer of Monongahela, Pa., threatened to use this billboard to post the names of customers who owe him money and won't pay. He says his plan brought results. Many customers either paid in full or made payments on old accounts. Pizzutelli once owned 19 grocery stores but now he has only one. He said the decrease was due to a liberal credit policy.

PLATS, MAPS MADE FOR MANEUVER USE

The clean-up work on the maneuver land project now is in progress here and should be completed next week, according to Major Niels I. Poulsen, army representative, stated Friday.

Individual plats and maps are being prepared of every separate tract of land in the parish, Major Poulsen indicated. The officer is assisted by an abbreviated staff of NYA workers and two WPA supervisors.

All areas where landowners have refused to sign or could not be contacted will be posted, the officer announced. Signs reading "Troops Keep Out" will be displayed on unsigned lands, and soldiers will make every effort to avoid movements through the tracts, he stated. Signs will be posted after August 10, Major Poulsen indicated.

Only 120 acres in Ouachita parish needed for the maneuvers have not been made available to the war department.

OAK GROVE YOUTH APPLIES FOR DUTY

Receipt of another application for Coast Guard service from this section was announced Friday morning by B. B. Rawls, chief boatswains mate, recruiting officer stationed here temporarily.

Roth W. Lunz, 22, of Oak Grove has submitted application for assignment to the coast guard branch of United States service, the officer stated.

Rawls, who has maintained a recruiting desk in the postoffice lobby here this week, will leave early Saturday for recruiting headquarters in Shreveport, but will stop at CCC camps along the highway, he indicated. He expected to return here at intervals.

He said that he planted his cotton on April 1. Boll weevils have done some damage, he said, but he did not apply poison.

URGES TAXATION OF LABOR UNION ASSETS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—(AP)—Taxation of the assets of labor unions, exempt under existing revenue laws, was proposed by Representative Vinson, Democrat, Georgia, today as the House began the third day of debate on the $3,529,200,000 tax increase bill.

Under a prior agreement, final action on the unprecedented measure will go over until Monday.

Directing his remarks specifically to members of the tax-framing ways and means committee, Vinson asserted that 150 large A. F. of L. and C. I. O. unions had assets of $42,371,199 on April 1, 1941.

"With the country sorely pressed for revenue in the emergency," the Georgian declared, "why shouldn't these labor organizations pay their share of the tax burden?"

MOTORIST FIRES SHOT INTO GROUP

LACKAWANNA, N. Y., Aug. 1.—(AP)—An unidentified motorist, apparently indignant at a stranger's request for cigarettes, fired a shotgun from his slowly moving automobile today into a group of persons, killing one and wounding two others.

Acting Police Captain Walter A. Woyshner said the motorist first struck Joseph Idzior, 19, who had requested cigarettes for himself and two companions. A fight followed and the motorist strolled away.

Later, he drove by a coffee shop where Idzior and his companions were standing, poked the gun over the window frame and fired. Thomas McNearney, 55, Lackawanna, was killed. Idzior was wounded seriously, and a customer struck by a pellet.

37 ARMY UNITS WILL PASS THROUGH HERE

Long columns of dust colored trucks are scheduled to roll along highway 80 through the Twin Cities Saturday carrying troops and equipment of 37 different units of the third army to the Louisiana-Texas maneuver area for the largest peacetime war games in United States army history.

Troops of the fourth motorized division, the convoys are en route from Fort Benning, Ga., to Dry Prong, La.

Comprising 217 vehicles and 700 men, the 94th anti-tank battalion rumbled through town Friday morning. The convoys, divided into two serials with a gap for traffic between them, entered Monroe at 9 a.m. and completed passage at 10:45 a.m.

Cooperation of the motoring public is urged by civil and army officials during the maneuver period when traffic on key highways is congested.

Army regulations state that army vehicles passing through towns are ordered to travel in close column. Generally a police escort conducts the column through town at normal speed and without regard for traffic lights, in which case civilian motorists are cautioned not to attempt to pass or break through the column. It is suggested the motorist pull alongside the curb and stop, as is the procedure when fire trucks or ambulances are sighted.

OUACHITA FARMERS TO VISIT STATION

Some 20 Ouachita parish farmers are expected to attend the Northeast Louisiana field day Wednesday at the St. Joseph experiment station, according to D. L. Bornman, Jr., parish agricultural agent. Farmers from Morehouse, Richland and Franklin parishes also will attend the all-day session.

Purpose of the field day is to give farmers an opportunity to study first hand the experimental work now being conducted for the benefit of alluvial planters, Mr. Bornman stated. Outstanding horticulturists will demonstrate experiments and discuss methods.

Luncheon will be available for a slight charge on the station grounds, the agent indicated.

AGENT GIVES RECIPE FOR RIND PRESERVES

With the watermelon season in full swing, Mrs. Jewel L. McQuiller, parish home demonstration agent, has suggested an appropriate recipe for watermelon rind preserves.

"Use two pounds of watermelon rind, three quarts of water, two pounds of sugar, two lemons, and one ounce of ginger," Mrs. McQuiller advises.

"Remove all the green outer rind and the red from the melon, leaving only the white rind. Cut in one-inch squares or in oblong pieces one-half inch by one inch. Make a solution of two tablespoonfuls of air-slaked lime (calcium oxide) and two quarts of water. (This lime may be bought at a drug store.) Cover rind with lime solution and let stand four hours.

"Pour off lime water and freshen in clear, cold water for two hours. Drain; then boil for 45 minutes in ginger water made by adding one ounce of ginger to one gallon of water. Drain and drop into a boiling syrup made from two pounds of sugar, three quarts of water, a pinch of salt and the juice from one lemon. Later in the cooking add another lemon, sliced. Cook until clear and transparent and until the syrup is thick like honey. If the syrup becomes too thick before the rind is clear, thin by adding boiling water.

"When done, let stand in the thick, hot syrup until cold. Pack in sterilized jars, partially seal, process at simmering temperature 30 minutes; seal and cool."

REFUSES AID UNTIL PARROT IS SAVED

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 1.—(AP)—Her dress and shoes in flames, Mrs. Mary E. Bauswell, 64, refused aid until her 14-year-old parrot was rescued.

Mrs. Bauswell and Robert Terrell were cleaning a refrigerating unit in her home yesterday. The gasoline was ignited.

"Save the parrot, save the parrot," Mrs. Bauswell screamed to Terrell and she refused to allow him to beat out the fire in her clothing until he had carried the bird to safety.

Mrs. Bauswell suffered second degree burns on the feet and legs.

SIX MORE BUSES NEEDED BY SCHOOL

Six additional school buses, to meet increasing requirements when the fall term opens, are to be purchased by the Ouachita parish school board. Sealed bids will be received for these items up to 10 a.m. August 8, in the office of Superintendent T. O. Brown, it was stated Friday.

Plans are also under way for the installation of asphalt tile flooring for the Ouachita Parish High school. Plans and specifications have been prepared by H. H. Land, local architect.

The 23 local youths were accompanied by Mrs. Doris Braden and H. B. Fairchild, assistant parish agents, who have charge of 4-H club activity.

Helen Landrum, Colony club reporter, and Elaine Willis, food preservation representative, won blue ribbon honors in the state-wide competitions. The Ouachita stock judging team, composed of Everett Zeagler, Colony club, Robbie Rutledge and Buddy Griggs, Lapine club, placed sixth among 60 teams, while the demonstrations team, comprised of Kenneth Brown and J. T. Bush, Okaloosa club, placed second in the northeast division.

Spread It Out!

Almost three-quarters of the total dollar value of defense supply contracts for the army and navy have gone to only 56 corporations.

The other quarter is divided among several thousand.

The supply contracts are those through which are furnished ships, planes, tanks, guns, equipment, food and fuel, as differentiated from contract under which cantonments, bases, depots, arsenals, and factories are built.

To see concentrated in 56 companies three-quarters of the whole job of supplying the defense program is somewhat surprising. But it is even more concentrated than that. Six companies accounted for 31 per cent of the supply contracts at the end of May. Bethlehem Steel alone has contracts aggregating almost a million dollars.

To an extent, of course, this concentration is inevitable. Contracts are almost certain in the natural course of things to go to industrial units in proportion to their size in the field in which they operate.

But it is probably time to consider whether this is in every case necessarily the best way. Smaller firms are now beginning to feel the impact of the defense program, and those which have not been able to get orders for defense production are being in many cases cut off from essential materials through the priority system.

Materials of which there is a shortage must go first, of course, into the plants building the vital things like bombers, ships and tanks. But America must use all of her facilities. Is there any chance that large firms with great masses of unfilled orders awaiting production are turning out those orders as fast as they could [illegible] the work were subcontracted to smaller firms able to handle it? In some cases this must

[illegible] extent that this is true, several bad things

[illegible] (1) The goods aren't produced as fast as they might be, because the limit on even vast productive facilities holds them up. (2) Machinery and skills available in small plants are not used for defense purposes, and may even be tied up because normal civilian production is impossible.

The defense effort is so great that America cannot allow to lie unused a single sinew of her great productive capacity.

Manhattan
By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—The customers sometimes raise interesting points:

"It has been a long time since I have read anything that has troubled me in the manner that your article on the zoo did," writes J. T. M. of New Orleans. "I refer to the paragraph on the wolf and his 'constant pacing to and fro, with never a pause . . . from daylight until dusk.' Unlike humans who have committed some vile crime, that unfortunate animal is innocent and was taken from his homeland—the wild—where, if you believe God created all life, his Creator placed him. . . . Do you really believe that the human race gains . . . by such pathetic sights as that imprisoned, unhappy animal who deserves above all its freedom?"

That's a pretty tough question to answer, Mr. M. It's controversial. . . . If you take the long view, science owes much to its endless, patient observation of animals. . . . Without them Koch and Pasteur would never have been able to fathom the riddles of tuberculosis and rabies. . . . On the other hand, nothing is as distressing as the sight of a child, or an animal, in distress.

"Tell me, if you can," asks M. C. H. of Fort Worth, "how I may go about getting copies of the State Guides you have mentioned in your columns several times."

You can get them at almost any bookstore. . . . They range in price from $1 to $3. If your book dealer doesn't have them, he can easily get them. The guide to your own state of Texas is a peach. . . . One of the very best. . . . It was published by Hastings House, New York.

From Hastings, Mich., Miss L. P. writes to say, "Recently I saw in your column mention of a recording made by Charles Laughton about the rivers of the United States. I tried to get the record in Grand Rapids but was unsuccessful. Will you please tell me the name of the company that makes it?"

That was a private recording, Miss P. It was made by the Columbia Broadcasting company. They took it off the air during the actual broadcast and placed it in their library for reference. All broadcasting companies record important programs, but these recordings are never sold.

Here are two notes with but a single thought. . . . R. W. of Kansas City and B. E. H. of Coatesville, Pa., want to know about tickets to major broadcasts in the New York studios.

These tickets are free, but the waiting list is so long that it usually is advisable to place requests weeks ahead. If you plan to come to New York, I would advise writing at once to the Guest Relations Department of NBC, CBS, or MBS, New York City.

Most book publishers believe the prices of books will be up 25 per cent by January 1st. . . . It's the rising cost of paper and other essentials that does it.

In the "Park of the Red Crocks," near Denver, Colo., seats are carved out of rock formation sloping naturally down to a stage.

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 1.—Those Errol Flynn-Lili Damita war communiques were exaggerated again; it's just another skirmish likely to end as usual—with kisses. . . . Pals thought Tallulah Bankhead was kidding when she vowed she'd stay on the wagon until war's end, but she's now in her 16th month!

I hear Stanley (Rita Johnson's husband) Kahn dropped plenty on Nevada gaming tables last week-end. . . . Ditto Georgie Jessel. . . . Reason for the three-week-lay-off of Tommy Dorsey's band is he's having his tonsils (not appendix as elsewhere reported) yanked, and you can't toot a trombone with a raw throat.

Hedy Lamarr, who has "eatin' fever" (she gobbles cakes, candy and sandwiches constantly) is hospitalized for scientific reduction. . . . How come San Francisco newshawks looked the other way when Gypsy Rose Lee tumbled from a cable car for a not-damaging, rumble seat landing? . . . If Sam oldwyn wants real low-down for his Lou Gehrig film he should hire Lou's old pal, photographer Bill Frieze (NY Times).

Marlene Dietrich has a weakness for George Montgomery—not the first he-man, cowboy star to grab her eye. . . . Ha! Since visiting here, N. Y. shoe manufacturer Jesse Adler has received orders from nine male stars (all average height) for his "elevator shoes," which make a wearer two inches taller!

Dick Arlen and Virginia Grey, who've been spatting, are now closerthanthis. . . . Two studios are bidding for Bob Christenberry's "History of the Hotel Astor" (home of countless stars over many years). . . . Elaine Barrie and Eric Linden are to team for an eastern staging of "Philadelphia Story."

Laugh of the Week: Rudy Vallee's dramatic recital, to John Barrymore, of his dream about said Barrymore. "It was horribly real," said Rudy with an artful shudder. "You'd been in a traffic accident and had been rushed to the emergency hospital in serious condition. I saw you there, lying unconscious on the operating table, as plainly as I see you now, and I heard the doctors anxiously consulting how to save you. Finally they decided on a blood transfusion, and took a sample of your blood." "How did it end?" interrupted John, "did I recover?" Rudy shook his head regretfully. "No, poor fellow, the transfusion was never performed. Imagine, they couldn't find a quart of gin in the whole hospital!"

Our Children
By ANGELO PATRI

DON'T SUFFER FROM FEAR

This piece is addressed to adolescent boys and girls. If their fathers and mothers read it I hope they will pass it along to them. I am writing it after a year in which many letters have come to me from young people suffering from hidden fears. Nobody knows about these fears but the ones who suffer from them because they are careful to hide them. So, father, mother, don't take for granted that the children in whom you are most interested are not concerned here. They may be and you know nothing of it.

Dear young people, don't carry that fear about with you, suffering through long nights and hard days, worrying yourselves sick without help. Tell your story to some trusted friend. You must do this. Fear is poison and if you allow this poison to stay with you it will do you grave harm. If you are afraid that the world will end, if you fear death, for yourself or those close to you, if you are trying to find help from the astrologers and the fortune tellers make up your mind now to find relief and help by telling your griefs to some wise man or woman. Go to your clergyman, your physician, your loved teacher, a family friend, and make a clean confession of your fears.

It is a mistake to keep such fears to yourself. I know that some people will laugh at you if they find out your secret. Some will scold and some will be frightened. Avoid these people even though they are close to you in relationship and affection, and go to the stranger who will listen and comfort and direct you. Usually the clergyman is the best possible advisor but if for any reason you feel he will not do, go to the one you trust. But go.

If you are in the habit of using a dream book, stop it. Don't you know that nobody on earth, not since dreams were dreamed, can tell you about your future by listening to your dreams. Dreams are fragments of your conscious life, not a prophecy, not a warning. Forget them. Be careful of your behavior through the day and you won't have many bad dreams. Tell your fears to some experienced helpful friend and you will have even fewer of them.

Shun superstitions. Walking under a ladder is not wise if there is a man with a load of bricks on top of it, otherwise it is harmless. So is a black cat, unless you step on his tail. That would be bad luck for him as well as for you. If you drop a fork or a spoon it just means that you pick it up. Nothing, nobody, can foretell your future, threaten you with evil or harm you in any way through charms, without your cooperation and if you are half smart you will not give yourself to any such foolishness.

The best way to enjoy life is to keep busy doing worth-while jobs. Keep interested in people and try to understand and help them to understand you. Live one day at a time, even one hour at a time, and don't try to see what is going to happen the next hour or the next day. You won't succeed anyway so why make yourself ill?

And remember, don't hide a fear that is bothering you. Tell it to some responsible trusted friend like your clergyman. If there is nobody else you can always write the story to me. I will keep your secrets as always.

'GET HOT, BROTHER!'

Washington Daybook
By Jack Stinnett

WASHINGTON—America is seeing America as it never has before. Tie the United States with the strings of a constantly tightening national emergency and the widespread fattening of pay envelopes, and you'll see why 1941 may be the greatest travel year on the books for some time to come.

There's no better pulse-taker of travel in the country than Thomas P. Henry, president of the Automobile Association of America. He gathers statistics from dozens of sources and this year he is able to toss them into the hopper and grind out the simple phrase: "Travel is booming."

Car registrations have exceeded late winter estimates. Gasoline consumption has soared to a new all-time peak. The national parks, Canada and Mexico are adding up seasonal records ahead of all previous years. And for further proof that America is on the go as never before, there is the record-breaking routings handled by the AAA and other motor clubs.

Let's take a few of the state and city auto club reports, just to give some idea: Michigan, 38 per cent increase over last year; Philadelphia, Cincinnati, Norfolk, Cleveland and the states of Missouri and Rhode Island, approximately 20 per cent increase; Louisville, up 38 per cent; the state of New York, 27 per cent; and California, 32 per cent.

Canadian Figures Jump

The national park figures are slow coming in, but estimates for the first month or six weeks of the season indicate a 10 to 20 per cent visitor increase in all parks over last year's high figures.

D. Leo Dolan, chief of the Canadian Travel Bureau, reports that in one week, at eight Canadian entry points in New Brunswick, Quebec and Ontario, travel to Canada on 60-day permits (persons who stayed 48 hours or less and did not have to have extended permits were not counted) increased from two to two and a half times over 1940.

In recent months I have had a number of queries from readers asking if it is possible to go to Canada while she is at war. According to Mr. Dolan, more than 14,000,000 Americans went to Canada in 1940 for stays of longer than 48 hours and restrictions are no different now than they were then.

The same applies to Mexico. Because of some whimsy not yet made clear, travel to our nearest "good neighbor" to the south started off very slowly this year. For four months, it was no more than normal and a little under last year; but the next two months saw approximately a 30 per cent increase over last year's high figures. Since then, the flow across the Rio Grande and borders to the west is developing into a sizable flood.

Take Your Choice

So there you have it. America is on wheels as it never was before. From Lake St. Jean to Acapulco, they are angling for guananiche or red trout, or buying gardenias at a few cents an armload, or sending wish-you-were-here postcards to the folks back home.

The "good neighbor" boys in Washington have their own version of the travel to Canada and Mexico (and the rest of Latin America), but the travel experts here who take a broader view say it's just a simple case of restlessness and rising incomes.

The former always occurs in periods of great national tension. When money comes along at the same time, folks just have to get out and get going, whether it's to see the Gaspe, Popocatepetl, or to visit son John, who is earning his $21-per as trainee in Uncle Sam's own version of a blitzkrieg army.

THREE ARE KILLED IN RAILROAD CRASH

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., Aug. 1.—(AP)—A Pennsylvania railroad freight train early today hurled a stalled truck onto an adjoining track 23 miles east of here, derailing a passenger train locomotive and killing three of its occupants.

Crushed to death as the locomotive and its coal tender plunged down a six-foot embankment were Engineer F. E. Snyder, Northumberland, Pa., Fireman H. F. McHenry, Sunbury, Pa., and C. K. Shaibey of Williamsport, road foreman of engines, who was on an inspection trip.

Three baggage and mail cars of the Washington-Buffalo passenger train were yanked off the tracks but remained on the right-of-way. None of the passenger coaches left the rails. All occupants were reported to have escaped injury.

Four men transporting a steam shovel over a rural route in a trailer truck died after their machine stalled as they tried in vain to flag the freight as it sped from Altoona to Wilkesbarre.

O. A. Long, fireman of the freight, said the locomotive sheared off the cab of the truck which burst into flames and was carried 200 yards in front of the engine before being dumped onto the adjoining track in front of the northbound passenger.

FUNNY BUSINESS

August 1, 1926

For the consideration of $32,062.50, all of the gas and gas rights together with the exclusive right to drill wells on 1,262 acres in Ouachita and Union parishes, has been transferred from the Frost Lumber Industries, Inc. of Shreveport, to the Interstate Natural Gas company, Inc., of New Orleans. The sale, deed of which has been filed with the clerk of court was the largest recorded here this week.

Rev. M. E. Weaver, new pastor of the West Monroe Baptist church, arrived here yesterday and tomorrow will occupy the pulpit of his church for the first time. For the past few years, Rev. Weaver was pastor of the large First Baptist church in Corpus Christi, Tex., where he was recognized as one of the leading pastors of the state. Before he went to that charge, he was pastor of the First Baptist church in Lake Charles.

At a special meeting of the city commission council, the paving work on Rochelle avenue and North Eighth and Wood streets, recently completed, was accepted. The work was done by J. J. Hamiter, of Shreveport, who also has the contract for the paving of Peach street and an additional block on Rochelle avenue. Paving work on these two streets was started this week.

One of the nation's outstanding future military aviation projects, the development of a giant 2,000-horsepower engine which will be more powerful than any yet built, has reached the production stage.

MADE UP TO KILL
by Kelley Roos

YESTERDAY: Green Apples opened all right. It got good notices and so did the cast—all but the star, Eve North. But when Haila finally got home with her fiance, Jeff, after waiting all night for the morning reviews, she found Peterson of the Homicide Squad there, her roommate Carol in the hospital, and complete confusion all about. Some one had tried to poison Carol, and Carol was the hit of the play.

Chapter Six

Peterson Again

JEFF draped his tie neatly over my little white-potted cactus plant and deposited his shoes with a bang on my Windsor table. Sprawling out on the studio couch he dug his head into the pillows. I stood over him and raged.

"Do you really mean to lie there calmly and go to sleep while Carol Blanton is in Bellevue poisoned? Listen, Jeff, somebody tried to kill her! Aren't we going to do something?"

"Not till eleven o'clock. Then we go see Bowers."

"And until eleven we just sit here?"

"You sit here. I sleep." He rolled over on one ear and pulled down a pillow to cover the other one.

"Sleep, damn you, sleep!" I said and sat down wearily at the desk. I tried to think of somebody who could have poisoned Carol and why and what I should do about it. I put my head on the red leather memorandum pad and closed my eyes.

It was half past ten when Jeff shook me, and there was the lovely bubbly sound of coffee perking in the kitchen. I took a cold shower, slipped into my old tweed suit and did a hasty job on my face. Then, standing wedged in between the stove and the refrigerator, we gulped iced tomato juice and cups of strong black coffee. It tasted wonderful.

It was cold and bright as we walked down Fifth Avenue to Forty-fourth and over Forty-fourth to the Colony. Clint Bowers' office was on the third floor over the theater and we squeezed into the self-operating elevator and went up.

Before the great mahogany desk that seemed to sag under its load of littered papers, letters and photographs, Bowers was sitting, his head resting on his hand. His face was drawn and grayish and his crisp hair rumpled as though he had run his fingers through it many times.

Phoebe Thompson, who did a smattering of secretarial work for him during the mornings, sat across from him, her pencil poised over a page on which nothing had been written. And striding back and forth in front of the one window was our ubiquitous new friend, Mr. Peterson. His head jerked in our direction as we entered.

"Oh, it's you two. You can come in. Sit down."

"Clint," I said, without any preliminary greetings, "do you know how Carol is?"

"I've been calling the hospital. Her condition is . . ."

"Favorable. I know. I've been calling them too."

Peterson said: "Your friend's all right. Lieutenant Sullavan just made a report on her. She'll be out of there in no time at all. Now, will you sit down?"

We did, on the edge of our chairs. Peterson drew a long breath.

"All right now, let's get back to where we were, Miss Thompson, you said that you have charge of those glasses, didn't you?"

Phoebe nibbled at the end of her pencil. "I . . . yes, I do. I take them out of the prop room and arrange them on the table on stage. And I see that they're put back in the prop room after the show's over."

"And last night? Did you do that last night?"

"Yes. As soon as the set had been put up I carried all the things in and fixed the table, the silver and china and glasses. I dusted them and . . ."

"Dusted them? You dusted the glasses?"

"Yes, they'd been standing in the prop room all day and they needed it. I dusted each one as I set it on the table."

"And there was nothing in any of the glasses then?"

"I'm positive there wasn't."

"When did you do this dusting, what time?"

"Two . . . not more than three minutes before the curtain went up on the third act."

Time Of The Crime

PETERSON wheezed with satisfaction. "Well! That's what you call placing the time of the crime, all right. In those few minutes after you dusted the glasses and before the curtain went up someone dropped morphine in Carol Blanton's glass."

"Not necessarily," Jeff said.

"What?"

"It could have been dropped in any time from when Phoebe dusted the glasses until Carol drank the stuff."

Peterson glowered at him. "You mean that one of the actors might have put it in after the curtain went up? While the play was going on?"

"It's a possibility."

Peterson smiled. "I think you better go again, Troy." He turned back to Phoebe. "Who was on the stage while you were fixing the table?"

"Why . . . why, nobody."

"No one at all? How curious."

"The company all had costume changes and they were in their dressing rooms. The set had been put up and all the stagehands had gone back to the cellar to their card game. Tommy Neilson was upstairs in the dressing rooms, I heard him calling places. And Amelia, that's Eve North's maid, had just gone into the kitchenette to do something for Eve. I don't know where the doorman was except that he certainly wasn't on stage. There, that takes care of everybody, doesn't it?"

"Everybody but me," Clint Bowers said.

"How about you?"

"I had gone up to Miss North's dressing room. There was a piece of business in the third act I wanted to speak to her about."

Peterson looked again at Phoebe. "After you finished the table, what did you do?"

"Went into the kitchen. I had to make tea. We used colored tea for the wine in the last act, you know."

"And that left the stage empty. Very conveniently."

"Yes." Phoebe's eyes flew eagerly to his face. "Look, Mr. Peterson! There were those few minutes just before Tommy brought the company down when no one was anywhere around. Couldn't someone have sneaked in through the stage door then, poisoned the glass and left again without being seen? Amelia and I in the kitchen wouldn't have been able to notice."

"Sure, that could have happened."

"How about Nick?" Jeff asked. "Wouldn't Nick have noticed a stranger coming in between acts?"

"I've talked to him. He wasn't on the door every minute during the night. He admits someone might have sneaked in that way."

"And there's that door from the front of the house," Phoebe said. In her excitement she had risen. "Anybody in the audience could have slipped through it during the intermission and not been noticed! That could have happened easily!"

"Sure, it could have happened," Peterson repeated, "Only it didn't. Nobody came through that door, nor through the stage door either."

"But why not?"

Missing Star

"BECAUSE the person who did this wasn't an outsider."

"You mean that someone in the company poisoned Carol, someone backstage? Oh, no, Mr. Peterson!" Phoebe was shocked. "Who would have done that?"

"Someone," said Peterson grimly, "who knew the setup, the stage and the theater. He had to know his way around, he had to know when the glasses would be put on the table, when he could sneak in and out with the least chance of being seen. And he had to know which glass Carol Blanton was going to drink from. Doesn't sound much like an outsider, does it?"

Phoebe admitted defeat. "No . . . no, I guess not. Then . . . then that means that someone in Green Apples is a potential murderer, doesn't it? That's what you're saying, isn't it?" She stopped, catching her lower lip in her teeth. The rest of us stared at each other and a queer little thrill of horror crinkled through my spine. "Any one of us backstage might have slipped onto the set during those three minutes and poisoned Carol's glass. Any one of us!"

Peterson said, "Yes. One of you did." He turned to Bowers. "Maybe you could tell me, Mr. Bowers, why Eve North would leave town at the crack of dawn this morning?"

"Eve! Leave town?" Bowers' eyes filled with incredulity and his hand reached for the telephone on the desk. "I think you must be wrong."

"Don't bother calling. I've been at her hotel. They say that she's out of town, won't be back until time for her performance tonight. And they don't know where she is."

"But Eve would have phoned me. She wouldn't have gone away the day after an opening night without first letting me know."

"That make it all the more unusual, doesn't it? Where would she be, Mr. Bowers? Long Island somewhere? Westport?" He watched Bowers, obviously waiting for an answer which he didn't get. "Okay. If she isn't back by [illegible] we'll find her."

"Miss North will be back tonight," Bowers said, stalling. "And in plenty of time for the [illegible] wherever she is."

Peterson moved back to the window and stood there a moment contemplating us in silence. Then he clasped two fingers into his vest pocket and brought out a folded slip of yellow paper.

"Tell me, Mr. Bowers, who is Lee Gray?"

"Who's Lee Gray? I've never heard of her. Why do you ask?"

"Because I found that I had no [illegible] on my desk, likely some old [illegible] of his."

Jeff gave me a dirty look. "Never heard the name."

"They doesn't know anything about this business last night," Peterson said. "Do you, Troy?"

"No."

[illegible] was recorded July 18, the temperature in Monroe's business section yesterday was in the 90's shortly before 5 o'clock started to 100 at 10:30 a. m., dropped slightly below 100 at 11:40, and hit 100 again at 1:30 p.m.

At Selman Field CAA observers recorded 90° between 2:30 and 4:30 p.m. In downtown Monroe the temperature has reached 100 or more every day since last Saturday with the exception of Monday when the gauge showed a high of 98.

New York's Central park was laid out in 1811.

SUGAR-HOLDING MAY BACKFIRE ON CONSUMERS

Government May Suspend Quotas, Force Big Drop In Prices

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—(AP)—Apparently fearful that the war may cause shortages, American consumers have engaged in another sugar-hoarding spree, but it may backfire on them.

Despite government assurances that supplies were ample, officials said today that housewives, candymakers, manufacturers of other products requiring sugar, wholesalers and retailers have bought sugar at a record-breaking rate this year to build up reserve stocks for use in case of a scarcity or stratosphere prices.

This heavy buying activity had one natural result—a sharp rise in prices. Today those prices are the highest since the war's start in 1939, when a similar epidemic of hoarding led the government to take drastic action to check the advance. Raw sugar is being quoted at about $3.60, duty-paid basis, per hundred pounds at New York.

Agriculture department officials, who ordinarily are able to control sugar prices effectively, consider present quotations excessive.

Under a sugar control law, the agriculture department has the power to say how much sugar may be marketed in this country in any year, and to divide this quantity among various producing areas under a quota system. By increasing or reducing the quotas, it usually is able to influence prices.

When it became evident, through recently increasing prices and marketing reports, that consumers were buying far beyond their current needs, the department increased the quotas. It hoped this action would at least halt the advance.

The department figured wrong. Prices kept going up. Again it increased the quotas. Further advances followed. A third, and very large increase in quotas was made this week. Marketings under the increased quotas are expected to total 7,627,563 tons, or about 1,000,000 tons more than was consumed last year.

This third increase, like its predecessors, had little or no effect on prices.

Obviously anxious to avoid speculative prices, officials said the government might have to repeat action taken in 1939. At that time President Roosevelt, acting under authority of the sugar law, suspended the quota system, thereby removing all import and marketing restrictions. Officials were sure such a step, if taken, would have the desired effect.

A suspension of quotas, by permitting Cuba and domestic beet sugar producers to sell large surpluses, might cause prices to drop below levels at which hoarding consumers bought, officials said, thus penalizing them.

Fears of shortages have been founded on the fact that the United States depends upon offshore areas—mainly Cuba, Hawaii, Puerto Rico, and the Philippines—for more than two-thirds of its requirements, and the possibility that war-shipping losses might interfere with movement of those supplies. The agriculture department has issued statements discounting this possibility.

TO DEATH VALLEY

Goliath Messiah, who's 71 but says he'll live to be 150, arrived in Los Angeles from the New York Bronx with the announcement he would retire to Death Valley to live like an Indian. "It's cheaper to live in Death Valley than in the Bronx," said Messiah who's been accustomed to five miles of daily road work in sneakers and shorts, even in winter.

APOLOGIZES FOR LAUDING LINDBERGH

ALVARADO, Tex., Aug. 1.—(AP)—Mississippi's lieutenant governor, Dennis Murphree, apologized for once having introduced Charles Lindbergh as the nation's greatest hero.

In a pasture near here where hundreds of former Mississippians had gathered yesterday for their annual picnic, Murphree said:

"A few years ago the greatest throng ever assembled in Jackson, Miss., massed around the statehouse steps. In my innocence and ignorance, I introduced a man as the greatest hero in America.

"Today I apologize. That man was Charles Lindbergh."

The Mississippian, just returned from a foreign trip, said he had visited two battered British sea fighters, the aircraft carrier Illustrious and the 35,000-ton battleship Rodney.

He related details of the Rodney's victorious encounter with the German battleship Bismarck, conqueror of the Hood but subsequently a victim of British shellfire and torpedoes, as told him by crew members.

ATTACKS PACT

HELSINKI, Finland, Aug. 1.—(AP)—The recently pro-British newspaper Helsingin Sanomat called the alliance of Great Britain and Soviet Russia a "mockery of fate" today and deplored R. A. F. participation in Wednesday's bombing of Petsamo. "England's deed surely doesn't improve her moral status, which was given a decisive blow already by the Bolshevik alliance," the paper said.

URGE STUDY OF GAS RESERVES IN STATE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—(AP)—The office of production management was urged by two Louisiana officials to study natural gas reserves in Louisiana with a view toward utilizing it for operation of steam plants producing electricity for aluminum plant needs.

G. T. Owen, executive counsel for Governor Sam Jones, and Adjutant General Raymond Fleming conferred yesterday with J. A. Krug, OPM defense power coordinator and Owen indicated he had supplied the OPM official with full data on the Louisiana natural gas supply.

The two Louisianians also discussed with Deputy Administrator Clark Forman of the federal works agency advisability of a special housing program for the Minden area where construction is scheduled to begin soon on a shell loading plant.

They conferred with war department officials regarding possibility of a $20,000,000 defense road program in Louisiana for defense, industrial and cantonment areas.

PLAN OPPOSITION IN CASE JAPS INVADE

SHANGHAI, Aug. 1.—(AP)—Chinese Communist and Russian officers already have held staff conferences to plan joint military action in the event Japan strikes at Siberia, foreign military reports said today.

Domei, Japanese news agency, reported from Nanking that Chinese representing the Chungking government were to meet with Russian military men at Chita, Siberia, some time this month to discuss military cooperation.

The military reports said 70 Russian experts of the far eastern Red army arrived two weeks ago at an undisclosed point in North China and met General Chu Teh, Chinese Communist commander, and his staff.

With these reports were others from Chinese sources saying that Joseph Stalin had brought pressure on the Chinese Communists to end sporadic clashes with the Chungking government. The Russian premier also was reported to have advised the Chinese Communists to attack reduced Japanese garrisons in Shansi province and in other North China territory.

The Japanese continue to transport supplies into Manchoukuo and up to July 23 were reported to have moved 14,000 troops, including one medical regiment, past Tientsin toward Mukden.

RESTRICTIONS

Chinese women are suffering from many new edicts in some parts of their native land. These new edicts bar unstockinged legs, permanent waves, lipstick, lowneck gowns and mixed bathing.

VICHY REGULATIONS ARE PUT IN EFFECT

VICHY, Unoccupied France, Aug. 1.—(AP)—Regulations putting teeth into laws banning Jews from a long list of professions and forbidding them to dispose of their property to forestall aryanization went into force today.

Prefectures now will set deadlines for Jews to hand in working cards.

Other decrees restricted public assemblies and empowered authorities to order individuals to leave towns in which they were residing.

Summer Days Offer Round Of Pleasures

Diversified Amusements Keep Visitors In The City Entertained Throughout Summer

Visitors in the city are tasting generously of Monroe's hospitality this week. As customary each summer visitors flock to Monroe where a special brand of hospitality is reserved for them. Monroe is now looked upon as a summer resort with swimming, boating, dancing, motoring and the customary pitter-patter of informal social affairs, offering a continuous round of pleasure.

Miss Mary Stuart Kellogg's house guest, Miss Frances Hood, of DeRidder, her suite-mate at Ward Belmont last year, was given a sample of Monroe's hospitality this past week with luncheons, barbecues and conversational hours predominating.

Of exceptional pleasure was Mrs. Christine Moore's dinner party, Miss Barbara Faulk's luncheon, Miss Charlotte Padgett's barbecue supper party and Miss Ada Ellis Girault's luncheon.

Mrs. Warren Taylor, who is making her home with her mother in Brousard during the absence of Lieutenant Taylor, returned to Monroe the first of the week for a visit in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Leigh.

Mrs. Alston Prophit gathered a few congenials together for luncheon at the Rendezvous complimentary to Mrs. Taylor on Thursday.

Following the serving of luncheon a pleasant hour of reminiscing was enjoyed by Mrs. Taylor, the hostess, Mrs. Prophit, and Mrs. W. E. Leigh, Mrs. George Snellings, Jr., Mrs. John Theus, Mrs. Scott Hamilton, Mrs. Thomas Davenport and Mrs. King Stubbs.

Mrs. William Harper's sister, Mrs. W. S. Dixon, of Jackson, Miss., is always delightfully entertained whenever she visits in the Harper home. Outstanding among the courtesies this week was Mrs. Harper's bridge affair on Wednesday.

Tables for cards were placed in the spacious drawing room, delightfully cool and adorned with long-stemmed pink roses.

A confectionery course was served at silver-serviced, linen-covered tables to Mrs. Dixon, Mrs. Walter Meyer, Mrs. William Bendel, Mrs. Joseph P. Brown, Mrs. R. R. Beaman, Mrs. Travis Oliver, Miss Eve Bradford, Mrs. Charles Reid and Mrs. Maurice Frazier.

Six attractive members of the subdeb set were entertained at supper Thursday night in the gardens of the John Theus home with Helen Hardwick of Cincinnati, O., who is visiting her uncle and aunt, Dr. and Mrs. J. Q. Graves, the guest of honor.

"Holly" Hilliard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fay Hilliard of Houston, arrived on Wednesday to visit her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Beaman.

Mrs. E. H. Byrd and son and Mrs. R. L. Ross and son spent this week with friends in Shreveport.

Messrs. O. M. Grisham, O. R. Lewis, Thomas Leigh and R. L. Phillips attended the funeral services for the late Harvey Cough in Little Rock.

ONE of the queerest of the tropical oddities found in the Miami area is the "Leaf of Life." Absorbing its nourishment from the air, it needs no water or earth on which to thrive. Each leaf sprouts smaller ones within a week. Comely Ora Bridges, left, wears a growing "Leaf of Life" as a decoration on her sweater. To the left of it, for contrast, a leaf is shown before sprouting.

NEWS AGENCY SAYS GERMANS PASS DNIESTER

of the Dniester river, that is, near its mouth at Cetatea-Alba, Bessarabia.

Russian attempts to withdraw troops from threatened sections of the southern front were frustrated, the news service said, when German artillery put troop trains under direct fire.

"The Bolshevist forces had to leave the trains and accept battle," DNB added. "In stubborn hand-to-hand fighting Soviet units were completely wiped out, with great bloody losses."

The impression that things are moving to suit the German high command in the Leningrad sector was bolstered by an announcement by DNB, official German news agency, that a Russian regiment had been wiped out on the narrow strip of land between Lake Peipus and the Baltic while guarding that approach to the city.

Nazi editors, commenting on Russian and British assertions that the German offensive had bogged down, adopted a "wait and see!" attitude.

The authoritative commentary Dienst Aus Deutschland, answering foreign reports that the Nazi forces had not been making much speed lately, declared that more important than winning ground at this stage were the losses being inflicted on the Russian army in both equipment and manpower.

Dienst observed, however, that in 40 days of war in the east the Germans conquered more territory than they seized in 45 days in the west—in fact, it said, territory already occupied by the eastern armies is three times the size of England and Northern Ireland.

Information in morning papers concerning developments in the vital Smolensk sector was limited to a DNB report that two Russian regiments recently arrived from Siberia had been annihilated south of Vyazma, which is only about 130 miles west of Moscow.

The agency also reported that the Russians had lost 112 airplanes during the past 24 hours under the smashing blows of the luftwaffe.

(By Associated Press)

Adolf Hitler's invasion armies were pictured in London reports today as stalled along the whole 2,000-mile Soviet war front during the past 24 hours and near the point of exhaustion, and in Moscow, Harry L. Hopkins expressed "even more confidence that Hitler is going to lose."

Moscow dispatches said Soviet troops were taking the initiative at some points in the vast battleline, and a Red army bulletin reported fierce overnight fighting in the Smolensk sector, 230 miles west of Moscow; in the Zhitomir sector, west of Kiev, the Ukraine, and in the Novorzhev sector, 200 miles south of Leningrad.

In Berlin, Nazi editors countered assertions that the German offensive had bogged down with a "wait and see" attitude. Again they stressed that it was more important to destroy Russia's armies than to win ground.

Authoritative quarters in London declared there was "absolutely no indication" that the fall of Leningrad or a Soviet defeat on the vital central front at Smolensk were imminent.

Aside from its 19-word summary of the battle with Russia, Hitler's high command emphasized overnight activities of the luftwaffe, noting attacks on Moscow, the Suez canal, the British east and south coasts and shipping in English waters.

In Europe, Germany awaited news of advances in the Leningrad area while Russians were cheered by reports of defense successes in the Smolensk sector where the main German drive on Moscow was halted.

Unofficial German reports indicated that Nazi progress toward Leningrad was going according to plan.

The Soviet information bureau indicated that the Red army took the initiative on the 17th day of the battle of Smolensk to push back the invaders at some points, capturing prisoners and war material.

Hopkins, United States lease-lend administrator, had a three-hour private talk with Premier Joseph Stalin yesterday, his second since his unexpected arrival in Moscow by plane.

Saying that his conviction that Hitler would lose the war was strengthened, he said after the interview that "my short visit here has given me even more confidence."

He was believed to have told the Russian leader that American production of war materials would surpass any foreign foreign estimates.

STATE PREPARES TO APPEAL NEW COURT DECISION

liquidation of the state debt—a proceeding similar to the transfer to Supervisor Hayes—was likewise nullified, then the finance department would be paralyzed.

Because of the court decision Tugwell said he doubted whether the finance department could continue, without its additional funds, under the reorganization legislation in the finance department.

He pointed out that the finance department under the state's reorganized government was charged with carrying out financial operations of a number of agencies such as the welfare department, penitentiary and east Louisiana and central Louisiana hospital for the insane.

Payments of Confederate veteran pensions as well as relief checks are handled by the finance department under the governmental reorganization laws for the welfare department.

The court's order prohibited transfer of additional funds by the board of liquidation of the state debt to any agency listed in section two of the general appropriations act of 1940, a section with provisions that the appropriations made in the section were the maximum amounts the listed agencies would be authorized to spend.

Judge Womack denied a motion for a suspensive appeal filed by Assistant Attorney General W. C. Perrault and notice was filed that the state would apply to the supreme court for writs.

George M. Wallace, K. K. Kennedy and Wade O. Martin, Jr., were counsel for the plaintiff taxpayer, Alphonse Peck of Lafayette.

Tugwell said:

"Inasmuch as we are restrained from paying the additional appropriation to the supervisor of public funds in a resolution already adopted by the board of liquidation, we are in doubt as to whether or not we are restrained from paying additional appropriations to other departments on resolutions previously adopted by the board of liquidation."

Tugwell said section four of the general appropriations act—although unmentioned in Judge Womack's decision—contained a "ceiling" clause fixing the appropriations listed for various agencies as their maximum authorization for expenditure.

Other agencies with extra funds provided by the liquidation board, whose transferred funds the treasurer said may be affected, include the attorney general's office in relation to the statistician's $3,600 salary, the state police, New Orleans courthouse commission, and the Greenwell Springs tuberculosis hospital where new construction is being financed through extra funds transferred by the board.

COST CUT FROM FUNDS DUE CITY

and that the state had the legal right to deduct from this sum $222,080, the remainder of the city's share of voting machine costs.

He continued, "I respectfully request that you deduct the said amount * * * and segregate it so that same may be used for payment of the city's one-half of the cost of these machines.

"Inasmuch as the amount the city will receive from this fund, so I am informed, will exceed by several hundred thousand dollars its original budget expectancy from this particular source, the city can suffer no injury by reason of the above deduction."

Reviewing the legislative act and two amendments adopted last year relative to voting machines, the attorney general said:

"Therefore the legislature on three occasions has enacted legislation making it mandatory that voting machines be used in the city of New Orleans, and the people of the entire state have ratified two of these acts which specifically amended certain provisions of the constitution so as to provide for the use of voting machines, the said two amendments specifically approving the voting machine act itself.

"The city of New Orleans claims that it is financially unable to comply with the mandate of the legislature and the people and pay its one-half of the cost of these machines. The city has paid, to date, but $25,000 on account of $247,080 due, which is the amount of the city's one-half.

"Since by legislative act and constitutional amendment the city has been ordered to pay its one-half of the cost of these machines, and since the use of the same in the approaching January, 1942, primary to be held in the city of New Orleans for parochial and municipal offices is mandatory, it is absolutely essential that the city be compelled to pay its share of the cost of these machines."

The 18-year-old dream of a motor road from Alaska to the Straights of Magellan may come true by the end of 1942. The highway has been largely completed from Laredo, Tex., to Buenos Aires.

JAP SHIP READY FOR DASH HOME

she would enter this port in view of libel actions against other Japanese ships was a matter of conjecture.

United States marshals went aboard the Tatuta Maru and the Heian Maru yesterday with orders to prevent any attempt to sail. New York importers had filed claims for the cargoes, which they said were already paid for.

Aboard the Tatuta Maru was a $2,500,000 cargo of raw silk, which the ship arranged to carry back to Japan. Stowed beneath these 5,588 bales were such goods as tea, furs, egg yolks, albumen and straw braid.

A $15,000 libel suit was first filed against the cargo by Arnhold and Company, New York City, and a $30,000 bond was demanded. Other actions followed quickly. There was the question of how the Japanese could raise the money in view of frozen credits.

The Heian Maru, scheduled to sail at noon today, carried a cargo of goat and horse hair. A much larger bond of $300,000 was demanded.

It was a hectic day for the Tatuta Maru.

She was granted fuel oil, ships stores and clearance for noon today. During the afternoon she was picketed by anti-Japanese war organizations.

At 5 o'clock United States Marshall George Vice and three deputies climbed aboard with notices of attachment. Captain Toichi Takahata and his first officer were informed their ship would be held.

United States Customs Collector Paul Peake later announced that the treasury department had granted the ship clearance, and that it was up to the justice department. This led to the belief a go ahead might be forthcoming momentarily, and there was a fever of activity.

Then, shortly before midnight, Joseph Kennedy, the United States deputy marshal, announced he had received word from the justice department to hold the ship until further notice. Whether this meant minutes or hours was not indicated.

The Asama Maru, 16,975-ton sister ship of the Tatuta Maru, left 45 passengers at Honolulu. One of them described the past week as a "week-long nightmare of uncertainty for all aboard." Those who left the ship said they feared the vessel might head for Japan from Honolulu instead of San Francisco.

One of Japan's newest and finest tankers, the Syoyo Maru, was due here today, but her agents said she would lie offshore until a less valuable tanker could test the new credit freezing by trying to take on oil. The Daisan Ogura Maru was expected in today to load oil.

mum of active duty to which any individual would be subjected, pointing out that many might be released long before that period was up as new personnel came into the ranks to replace them.

"We are trying to work out a formula that will preserve the principles of the legislation and still be acceptable to the war department," he told reporters.

Congress, immersed in argument and still far from a decision, today passed the army high command's urgent deadline for action on legislation extending the service of selectees, reservists and national guardsmen.

In the senate, where debate was in its third day, Senators Clark, Democrat, Missouri, and Vandenberg, Republican, Michigan, kept up the attacks of a vocal opposition group by charging that to pass the bill would be to make the men in uniform liable to military service "for life."

Administration leaders, however, manifested unshaken confidence that they commanded ample votes for a two-to-one victory on the final showdown which they hoped for some time next week.

The house has yet to take up the measure and, while leaders there were equally confident, some others predicted that it would find a rough road.

The situation, it was generally agreed, made it certain that final disposition of the legislation would l deadline fixed by General George l deadline fixe dby General George C. Marshall, army chief of staff.

Senator Wheeler, Democrat, Montana, declared during an hour-long speech yesterday that General George C. Marshall, army chief of staff, several times had revised upward his estimate of the number of men needed for defense.

"What do they want them for if they don't want to send them out as an expeditionary force?" Wheeler asked.

The Montanan also asserted that Wendell L. Willkie is "the man that's making policy * * * that's rushing and pushing the president and telling him what to do."

Stating that the 1940 Republican presidential nominee had drawn only a small audience at a recent Los Angeles speech, Wheeler declared that officials of motion picture companies had to "drive their employes like sheep to make them hear this great warmaker. Shame on the motion picture industry."

Wheeler referred to William Donovan, newly appointed coordinator of defense information, as "the head of the American gestapo."

2 MEN GET CREDIT FOR SCOUT POOL

The fact was emphasized at the 20th anniversary celebration of the Boy Scout troop No. 1, Wednesday night, that one of the most important assets at Camp Ki-Ro-Li is the large and well equipped swimming pool.

Credit for its creation is given above all others to two Monroe men. They are Fred Stovall and S. K. Henninger. Mr. Stovall aided in many ways through his extensive knowledge of drilling wells and Mr. Henninger gave a large amount of his time, furnished material, and solicited contributions so that it was possible to prepare a first class pool for Boy Scouts of this area.

broad Bay of Bengal to reach India proper.

The Royal Air Force has been strengthened in Burma, the air ministry announced today, with construction of airdromes "for both offensive and defensive actions."

The new fields, the announcement said, "are so located that they give Burma protection from any quarter."

Considerable reinforcements were said to be arriving in the British oriental country, including numbers of American-made Buffalo planes.

Thousands of workers have been busy for months laying out additional airfields midway between the Burma coast and the frontiers of China and Thailand (Siam), stretching from Lashio in Upper Burma to the Morgui Archipelago in the south.

The fields are now completed, the ministry said, and are suitable for use by fully-loaded bombers.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—(AP)—The Japanese bombing of the gunboat Tutuila was marked a closed incident in the state department today, but concern in congress over the Far Eastern situation caused talk of delaying independence for the Philippines indefinitely.

Acting Secretary of State Welles, after conferring with President Roosevelt, announced last night that the United States had accepted the official apologies of the Japanese government for the attack on the United States gunboat near Chungking, China, Wednesday.

The apologies, he disclosed, were accompanied by an offer to pay indemnities for the damage the ship suffered, and by assurances that measures would be taken to prevent the recurrence of such incidents in the future.

PURELY ACCIDENTAL, SAYS JAP SPOKESMAN

SHANGHAI, Aug. 1.—(AP)—A Japanese naval spokesman declared today that damaging of the United States gunboat Tutuila in the Yangtze river at Chungking during a Japanese air raid Wednesday was purely accidental.

The spokesman, Commander N. Hazama, said the gunboat was so close to the targets of the Japanese airmen that a slight miscalculation "could result in stray bombs."

He conceded that a bomb must have fallen close to the Tutuila, but said the Japanese objectives were on the north side of the Yangtze—across the river from the warship's anchorage and the United States embassy—and that the stream is only 350 yards wide at that point.

"All pilots and bombers have been given details of the location of foreign property in Chungking and strict orders to take every precaution to avoid hitting them," he added.

He said the Chungking safety zone does not include the river, hence the Tutuila was not in it. The embassy was in the safety zone.

The embassy was not hit but an embassy residence was damaged.

SAIGON, Indo-China, Aug. 1.—(AP)—As Japanese troops continued to pour into southern Indo-China, the press at Hanoi, French capital in the north, today began to exhibit a friendly disposition to the United States.

The newspapers, in presumably inspired articles, described United States Far Eastern policy as far-sightedly aware of Japanese danger and sympathetic to France and the French empire. They contrasted this with what was termed the declining British Far Eastern policy since 1931.

At Saigon Japanese bombers and fighters filled the skies and the government controlled press commented that "the Japanese have landed and the British threat to Indo-China is ended."

transfer of part of this nation's coastwise tanker fleet to Great Britain.

Possible further restrictions, all believed to be under consideration for application if necessary, include: Holding individual service stations to a bulk quota of gasoline monthly, institution of gasless Sundays and as a last resort, ration cards.

The curfew will be effective in 12 states, parts of five others, and the District of Columbia.

The Liberty article created an impression that young Communist agents infested American college campuses and mixed politics with something which we in the writing trade and the movies have agreed to describe as romance. Mr. Shaw, whoever he may have been, alleged that young girls were seduced not only from the political and religious faith of their parents but from their chastity as well, wherein he was anticipating the revelations set down by the backslid comrade Benjamin Gitlow, late boss-Communist of the U. S. A., in his book entitled I Confess.

Miss Nancy Bedford-Jones exclaimed, in effect, "That's my pop!" and tore into him to the exulting applause of the Communists in the pages of the New Masses. Incidentally, let it be said that the New Masses, like Mrs. Roosevelt's model youth, Mr. Lash, was not Communistic, note should be made of the fact that the paper listed as its business manager William Browder, the brother of Earl Browder. Earl Browder succeeded Gitlow as chief of the Communist party here, but is now in prison for fraud.

"The author of these slanderous lies is my father, H. Bedford-Jones," was the way this lively example of American youth saluted her daddy. "Why did my father write these cold-blooded lies about his daughter?" she then demanded and proceeded to tell you why, according to her view of the matter. Her view was that he was a dirty old liar who was slandering American youth and the editor's blurb said Nancy had been "forced by her father's lies to denounce him."

Soon after, on November 28, 1935, the Daily Worker, the Moscovite house organ which does not go in very heavily for marriage stuff outside the party circle, reported that Nancy had married in Yuma, Ariz., none other than Joseph P. Lash, whom we now discover sometimes in the White House and then again at Campobello as a guest of Mrs. Roosevelt in something called A Student Leadership Institute.

The Worker's marriage notice mentioned Miss Nancy's father as "a Red-baiting pulp magazine writer" and said the marriage "culminated a friendship which grew out of their participation in student anti-war and anti-Fascist activities."

Mr. Lash is still a youth after a dozen years in the business, still employed and hustling, first with one youth or student council, service or institute, then with another, and he is still in there, or thereabouts, with his patroness, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, when the pictures are being taken.

The institute at Campobello, of course, would have no wish to conceal from the youth of the American campus, or the parents of that youth, this pretty little story from the political and love-life of one whom Mrs. Roosevelt entertains as a candidate for student leadership.

sessed as so important that they were ordered to go to Washington to make full reports before taking vacations. Within 60 days all will be given new assignments.

State department officials arrived from Washington last night to greet the incoming liner.

The 27,000-ton liner's passengers included 66 Chinese government officials from Rome and Berlin, seven Ecuadorean officials in Europe, military attaches, three newspapermen, 19 ambulance drivers who survived the sinking of the Egyptian liner Zamzam, 14 aliens and others who fled the war.

Heading the list of celebrities was the American minister to Sweden, Frederick A. Sterling, and Prince Carl Bernadotte of Sweden, a nephew of King Gustaf V.

The West Point left Lisbon July 26 with a safe conduct passage from belligerent countries. On the eastward voyage, she carried 464 German and Italian consuls and their families, ousted from America.

MEXICO GIVES NAZI REQUEST FIRM REJECTION

in renewing commercial relations with Mexico after the war.

This warning, declared Mexican Foreign Minister Ezequiel Padilla, "reveals by the sole fact of its being formulated a position of pressure, imperious and unjustifiable, which constitutes an open contradiction to the spirit of reciprocal respect which governs the foreign relations of the Mexican republic."

Rejection of the German request constituted the second rebuff Mexico has delivered to the Reich government within four months. In April President Manuel Avila Camacho's administration rejected a protest against expropriation of German ships in Mexican ports—a measure which paralleled action taken by the United States.

The German request on the Washington blacklist and Mexico's answer were disclosed last night with the publication of notes exchanged between Padilla and the Nazi minister, Rudt von Collenberg.

In his note, dated July 28, Von Collenberg referred to the blacklist as "unjust and transcendental," asserted it violated "the liberty of commerce and even the sovereignty of Mexico," and declared it is the duty of the Mexican government to protect the firms in question.

"My government, consequently," he wrote, "hopes the government of the United States of Mexico will protest to the government of the United States of North America against this discrimination against commercial firms by Mexican sovereignty. * * *

"A resigned acceptance of the measure in question on the part of the Mexican government could not but influence the decisions of the German government upon renewing commercial relations after the war."

Padilla, in his answer, said curtly the Mexican government "alone is competent, in absolute fashion, to note on what occasions the liberty of commerce and the sovereignty of Mexico are injured," and asserted it can not "permit a foreign diplomat to call its attention to those cases in which it should intervene in defense of such lofty and precious values."

To the proposal that Mexico protest to Washington, the foreign minister replied:

"I can assure your excellency that the road Mexico will take will be that which it esteems most appropriate without the need of receiving or carrying out instructions of other authorities conveyed by any of the accredited diplomats in this capital.

"* * * In this matter, as in all those of mutual interest to the western hemisphere, the policy of my government * * * will continue to be inspired by the principals of inter-American cooperation and will have as a basis the common criteria with which America is trying to resolve the problems created by the present international conflict."

Padilla assured Von Collenberg that "no foreigner has anything to fear who makes good use of Mexican hospitality," and said he was enclosing documents which would show his government was considering the blacklist "in all its ramifications and implications."

This presumably was a reference to his statement several days ago that Mexico would make "friendly representations" to the United States on behalf of any business concerns that could prove they had been unjustly included in the Washington ban.

The blacklist, which was announced July 17, prohibited exports from the United States to approximately 1,800 Latin-American firms suspected of doing business with the axis, including about 190 in Mexico.

which was required by the federal government before funds from that source would be allocated for the development of the local field.

The CAA's action was in line with assurances that had been previously given taxpayers of the parish and was highly satisfactory to the general public when informed of the appropriation Friday morning.

As assured by Brigadier-General Connolly, it is anticipated that construction will start at the field at the earliest possible date.

for a modified union shop, a 12 per cent wage increase, vacation adjustments and reclassification of some 1,000 employes. The present wage scale was not disclosed.

The A. F. L. Electrical Workers Brotherhood, which is carrying out a city-wide strike in New York City, ordered 285 union members to return to their jobs today at the Brooklyn navy yard where a $70,000,000 expansion program has been delayed by their absence. About 8,000 electricians remained on strike in all parts of the metropolis, in an effort to induce the Consolidated Edison company to employ 600 union members in the construction of a new powerhouse.

Meanwhile at Washington a preliminary report to Secretary of Labor Perkins indicated that strikes caused 1,375,000 man-days of idleness throughout the country during June. The figure represented a 39 per cent reduction compared with May. A total of 285 new strikes began in June, against 500 started in May, and involved 181,000 fewer workers, the report stated.

Four or 5 good-sized tomatoes, 2 cups chopped cooked spinach, 1-2 cup thick white sauce, 3-4 cup grated American cheese, salt, pepper, 1-4 cup fine soft bread crumbs.

Cut a slice from the stem end of each tomato and scoop out the soft portion. Combine the spinach, white sauce, and 1-2 cup of the cheese; season with salt and pepper. Fill the tomatoes with the spinach mixture and cover with the crumbs which have been mixed with the rest of the cheese. Place in a baking dish and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for about 25 minutes or until the tomatoes are done. Be careful not to let them overcook or they will lose their shape.

Luncheon: Tomatoes stuffed with spinach and cheese, enriched bread, fruit cup, tea, milk.

Dinner: Broiled round steak patties, lemon butter, fried potatoes, scalloped onions and green peppers, apple sauce, left-over cake, coffee, milk.

BAKED STUFFED CUMBERS
(Serves 4)

Two cucumbers, 2 tablespoons butter or other fat, 1 tablespoon chopped onion, 1 tablespoon minced parsley, 1-2 cup soft bread crumbs, 1 medium-sized tomato, chopped; salt, pepper, buttered crumbs.

Pare the cucumbers and cut them in halves lengthwise. Scoop out the seedy portion; parboil the shells in lightly salted water for 10 minutes and drain. Heat the butter and cook the onion and parsley in it for a few minutes. Add the crumbs, tomato, and cucumber pulp and season with salt and pepper. Cook the mixture for 5 minutes and fill the cucumber shells with it. Cover with buttered crumbs, place in a shallow baking dish, add a little water to keep the cucumbers from sticking, and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for about 15 minutes.

Hungarian Goulash

Brown 2 minced onions, 1 clove of garlic in 4 tablespoons meat drippings or butter. Add 2 lbs. lean beef chuck from Armour's branded beef, cut in 1 inch cubes, and brown lightly. Add 1 teaspoon paprika, 2 teaspoons salt, 1/2 teaspoon caraway seed (if desired), 1/2 teaspoon marjoram, 3/4 cup water and cover. Let simmer very slowly for 2 hours. Add 1 dozen small round potatoes (if desired) and continue cooking until very tender. Serve hot. Serve 5-6.

Coffee Cooler

4 heaping tablespoons coffee
3 cups freshly boiling water
1/2 pint vanilla ice cream.

Make coffee by your regular method. Pour into enamel, glass or earthenware container; cover and chill. To serve, place large scoop of ice cream in tall glass. Fill glass with chilled coffee. Top this with fig newtons and famous chocolate wafers. Serves 4.

Turkish Coffee

One heaping dessert spoon of Admiration coffee added to one small cup cold water brought to boiling point. Serve grounds and all without sugar or cream. Do not stir.

CHICKEN WITH LUXURIOUS ALMOND-CUCUMBER GRAVY

You've never tasted anything so good as crisp brown fried chicken smothered in this gravy. To the delicate succulence of the chicken itself is added a smooth savory flavor blend of creamy mushrooms, shredded almonds and gently sauteed cucumbers.

For all it is a luxury gravy, there's nothing complicated about the making of it. We simply use as our base condensed cream of mushroom soup—like this:

The gravy:
2 tablespoons butter
1/2 cucumber (6 to 7 inches long)
1 can condensed cream of mushroom soup
1/2 cup light cream
1/4 cup shredded almonds

Peel the cucumber and cut into small cubes, about 1-8 inch square. Cook the cucumber in butter until soft which takes 10-15 minutes. Add the cream of mushroom soup and mix well. Then add the cream and shredded almonds. Heat, but do not boil. Serve over the fried chicken.

The fried chicken:

Select tender young fryers, about 2 1/2 pounds each. Cut into pieces for serving, wash and dry. Roll each piece in seasoned flour, dip in egg slightly beaten with 2 tablespoons of water added, then roll in bread crumbs. Place large pieces of butter or chicken fat in a skillet and when hot, brown the chicken quickly on all sides. Reduce the heat and cook slowly until the chicken is tender. Serve with "almond-cucumber gravy." Serves 8.

Frosted Fruit Cup

With hundreds of cookies and wafers to choose from, your reputation need not depend on a few favorites. These small delicious treats, Uneeda lunch biscuit, the spicy Zu Zu ginger snap and melody vanilla cookies make the simplest dessert, such as frosted fruit cup a festive affair. This fruit cup is only a collection of fresh fruit served in a rich syrup and topped with a small serving of raspberry ice. When this jewel of a dessert appears with a butter browned Ritz or round toasted butter thin biscuit, it can right about face and march to the head of the menu as an appetizer.

Pineapple Sticks

Stand pared pineapple upright on board, remove "eyes" and cut in half lengthwise, then in quarters. Remove core from each piece, cut in one-half to three-quarter-inch strips and divide each in half.

Family Party Or Box Lunch—Still A Picnic

By Barbara B. Brooks

What makes a picnic a picnic? Try to answer it! A popular definition is that a picnic is a gathering of people with shoeboxes under their arms which immediately produces sudden thunderstorms. Those living on the seacoast claim that a picnic is a place where you gladly eat the sand that you spend hours cleaning out of the spinach!

It's agreed, however, that eating out of doors constitutes a picnic—and that goes for a couple strolling through the woods with their lunch in their pockets as well as for a family-gathering on the front lawn, with the cooking going on indoors. Here are menus that will take care of both, without too much work and worry.

Box Lunch For Two
1 pint chicken salad
4 chopped egg-bacon sandwiches
4 pineapple bread sandwiches
6 small sweet pickles
1 small bottle stuffed olives
2 frosted cup cakes
2 oranges or bananas
container of coffee

Front Lawn Picnic For Six
Maryland ham loaf
1 loaf sliced buttered bread
1 quart potato salad
1 bottle sweet pickles
1 dozen radishes
pineapple sticks
corn flake wafers
container of milk
container of coffee

Maryland Ham Loaf

1 pound smoked ham
1/2 pound ground lean pork
1/2 pound ground veal
2 eggs
1 cup milk
1 cup All-Bran
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons minced green pepper
1/2 cup brown sugar
1 teaspoon whole cloves

Combine meats with egg, milk, All-Bran, salt and green pepper; mix well. Sprinkle brown sugar and cloves in bottom of loaf pan; add meat mixture.

Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 1 1/2 hours.
Yield: 1 loaf (5x8x3) 8 servings.

Before the war, Britain imported 80 per cent of its oysters.

ROTARIANS HEAR FIRST AID TALK

Mrs. Thompson Tells Of Advantages Derived By Taking Course

The crippled children's committee had charge of the Rotary club's program at Hotel Virginia roof, Thursday noon. Dr. Clifford Flinn, committee chairman, presented the guest speaker, Mrs. Eileen Mackinnon Thompson.

Mrs. Thompson's talk was along the lines of first aid as sponsored by the Red Cross and taught in courses in Monroe. She recently completed one of the courses and is now an instructor in first aid.

She said that first aid, as defined by the Red Cross, is an immediate treatment in case of accident or illness until a doctor can reach the victim.

The need of first aid treatment was stressed through records showing that the greatest number of accidents occur first in the home, second in traffic, and third in industry, or while at work. She said that business firms, seeing the value of such training, should compel their employes to pursue these courses. She said that most persons, as well as firms, put off the taking of courses until a more convenient season.

One of the important and enlightening features of the talk was when Mrs. Thompson showed, with the cooperation of Harry Schroeder, how proper bandaging can and will help in times of emergency.

Guests of the club were Norman Coon, Milton Voorhies, S. Coleman, and Major Herbert Stoll.

Birthday greetings in the form of boutonnieres, were presented to Leo Keenan and Alston Prophit.

Two Correct Ways to Make Iced Coffee

FIRST STEP IN MAKING good iced coffee is to make good hot coffee. One way is to make regular-strength coffee, pour it over ice when chilled. For this method use 1 heaping tablespoon of coffee for each 3-4 measuring cup (6 ounces) of water.

POUR COFFEE into an enamel, glass, china or earthenware container, cover and allow to cool. Coffee may be chilled in the refrigerator, if desired. To serve, pour chilled coffee into glasses half-filled with ice.

SECOND METHOD is to make extra-strength coffee using 3 level tablespoons of coffee to each 3-4 measuring cup (6 ounces) of water. Pour hot, freshly-made coffee into tall glasses filled with ice. Serve with sugar and plain or whipped cream.

STRICKLAND LAND CASE FINALLY IS GIVEN TO JURORS

CONROE, Tex., Aug. 1.—(AP)—The Strickland land case went to the jury today.

And what a case!

There are 6,000 defendants.

Ownership of oil tracts valued at around $10,000,000 is involved.

The trial started August 18, 1940.

Two thousand separate issues must be decided.

Two and one-half days were required merely to read the charge to the jury.

The 150 attorneys were allotted four weeks for closing arguments.

And the most conservative forecasters predicted it would take the jury a week, probably longer to reach a verdict.

At stake is title to land in the heart of the rich Conroe oil field. Among the defendants are 30 oil companies and 6,000 purported descendants of one Wilson Strickland.

Ninety-two-year-old John Vince, who filed the suit, is on a sickbed in Louisiana and has been unable to attend the trial. He has been represented by attorneys and relatives.

The original Wilson Strickland came to Texas about 1838 or 1840 and settled on the land in question. Later he disappeared—a fact which has loomed large in the trial.

John Vince claimed some of his forebears acquired title to the land through a judgment obtained against Wilson Strickland. The Strickland heirs contended that their ancestor dropped out of sight before he personally was served with notice in the action instituted by Vince's forebears.

At least 25 Wilson Stricklands have been identified during the trial as being the man who settled in what is now the Conroe field. Testimony variously has had him emigrating to Texas from California, Georgia and numerous other states.

SECURITY BOARD REMOVES OFFICE

Now Located At 224 South Grand Street, States Dark

Removal of the Monroe office of the social security board from 306 Ouachita National Bank building to 224 South Grand street was announced today by P. L. Dark, manager.

Functions of the office, which are to issue social security account numbers and receive claims for monthly old-age and survivors insurance under the federal system, were being performed at the new location on a current basis, the move having been made without interruption of service to the public, Mr. Dark said.

In addition to the city of Monroe and Ouachita parish, the Monroe office serves the following parishes: Caldwell, East Carroll, Franklin, Jackson, Lincoln, Madison, Morehouse, Richland, Tensas, Union, and West Carroll.

Mr. Dark requested all persons in these parishes desiring information about old-age and survivors insurance claims or social security account numbers, to address communications to the social security board, 224 South Grand street, Monroe.

Although the social security board office is now located next door to the state employment service office at 230 South Grand street, it was pointed out by Mr. Dark that his office has nothing to do with the payment of unemployment compensation benefits. "Our office," Mr. Dark said, "is concerned only with issuing social security account numbers and the payment of monthly insurance to workers 65 years of age and over, their wives who are 65 or over, and to survivors of deceased workers. Workers must have been employed in industry covered by the federal old-age and survivors insurance program, and employment must have been after December 31, 1936, to entitle the worker or his survivors to monthly payments."

COLLECTIONS SHOW LARGE INCREASE

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 1.—(AP)—Customs collections for the port of New Orleans during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1940, totaled twice that of the fiscal year ending June, 1939, it was reported by Customs Collector A. Miles Pratt who largely credited Cuban sugar for the increase.

Customs collections for the fiscal year ending this past June, he reported, were $18,545,590 compared to $9,937,824 for the year ending in June, 1939.

Despite loss of a number of markets because of the war, he said, the customs collections on Cuban sugar were the highest since the World war.

THE ROBIN'S EGG BLUES

TAMPA, Fla.—(AP)—Girl employes at MacDill Field complained that robin's egg blue identification badges for civil service workers and pale orange badges for other employes clashed with dresses of any other color, but the objections fell on deaf ears because the badges were chosen for visibility and not style.

BEAUTICIANS TO CONVENE HERE

State Convention Will Bring Many To Monroe Late In Month

The approaching state convention of the Associated Master Barbers and Beauticians of Louisiana, to be held in Monroe, August 31 and September 1, is doing much to advertise northeast Louisiana, stated Cassyle B. Ringo, secretary-treasurer. Recent articles in the association's official national magazine contains writeups concerning the convention that are being widely read, he said.

These articles are by P. J. Naquen, New Orleans; Mrs. Inez Creidman, New Orleans; Mrs. Mary Jane Elmore, Monroe; Dr. K. Albert Ringo, Monroe, and many others.

This magazine is the official organ of over 250,000 barbers and beauticians over the entire United States.

Mr. Naquen states that registration will be initiated at Hotel Frances at 10 a.m. on the opening day and that the program will start at 1:30 p.m. There will be talks by prominent members of the crafts.

The business session will take place on September 1, and will be concluded with a banquet at 8 p.m. A ball will be held later that night on Hotel Frances roof.

The special train that will leave New Orleans over the Missouri Pacific railroad, will arrive here early on August 30. It will make stops to pick up delegates and others for the convention at Baton Rouge and Alexandria.

The statement is made that the convention is to be open to non-members of beauticians as well as members. It is expected that 1,200 barbers and beauticians will attend.

The Twin City Chamber of Commerce is co-operating with the local chapter by helping to send out personal invitations to members and non-members throughout the state.

A nightingale which sings beside a fire-watchers post at East Barkwith, England, has made the job so popular many volunteers have been turned away.

35 Permits Issued In July Total $66,256, Awl Reports

A considerable increase in building in Monroe during July over the preceding month and over the same month last year was indicated by the monthly report issued Friday by Sam H. Awl, city building inspector. The month's total of 35 permits amounting to $66,256 topped June's 31 permits totaling $29,142 and June, 1940's, 28 permits amounting to $49,483.

Eleven new dwellings totaling $40,811 were started here last month, and three new non-residences amounting to $4,900. The 21 alterations, additions and repairs for which permits were issued totaled $20,545. Three residences were demolished.

Two additional permits were announced by the inspector. H. H. and B. A. Gentry received a permit to construct a one-story frame dwelling at the rear of 1100 Texas avenue. The house, to contain three rooms, will have a metal roof and will cost $300. Day labor will be employed.

A permit to add a room to the one-story frame residence on the Loop road was issued to Keith Moore. J. E. Zufall is contractor for the building work, to cost $600.

WILL ACCEPT MORE MEN

Sergeant E. B. Stock, of the United States marine corps, stated Friday that an unlimited number of reservists will be accepted at the local marine corps recruiting office. Men who are registered for selective service, if under 30 years of age, are eligible for either branch of the marine corps, he stated.

PIPE LINE JOINS U. S. AND CANADA

NORTH TROY, Vt., Aug. 1.—(AP)—Canadian and United States sections of a yet-incompleted 236-mile pipeline intended to relieve an oil tanker shortage were welded together at the international border today in a colorful ceremony attended by officials of both nations.

The $8,600,000 project, expected to carry crude oil from a tanker terminal in South Portland, Me., to refineries in Montreal, Que., is scheduled to begin operations late this fall.

More than 40 miles of the 12-inch pipe have been laid since construction by the Standard Oil company of New Jersey began less than two months ago.

Construction officials told newsmen that the tankers, their trips shortened because of the pipe line, would be able to deliver approximately 33,000 barrels of oil additional each day to eastern seaboard cities, relieving a transportation shortage along that region.

Although initiated as an emergency measure to offset diversion of tankers to supply Britain's war machine, the pipe line will continue in operation after the war, the officials said.

The War Today

By DeWitt MacKenzie
(Associated Press Foreign Affairs Writer)

I have been encountering a very considerable expression of regret, not unmixed with quiet resentment, that British Prime Minister Churchill should have seen fit while addressing the house of commons to state that the United States "is advancing in rising wrath and conviction to the very verge of war."

Whether we are on the verge of war or not, the question of how far we are to go in our aid to the allies still remains a burning issue in the country. For this reason alone it was a surprise that the premier ventured upon the subject at all.

When one considers the undoubted brilliance of the Churchill mind, and the fact that he is ranked as one of the great masters of the English language, it is difficult to believe that his remark was due to inadvertence. He is meticulous in his choice of words. Thus one is inclined to regard the reference as premeditated.

Maybe he felt that the American people are slow in making up their minds, and wanted to jog us a bit. I don't know what he had in view, but it is quite clear that he produced a reaction, at least in some quarters, which was far from his intention.

We Yankees are a peculiar people. One of our many idiosyncracies is that while we are quite willing to do battle if we think we ought to, still we dislike being pushed into a fight by outsiders.

No, I'll take that word "outsiders" back. Mr. Churchill is our very good friend and "English cousin"—is half American himself, for that matter, on his mother's side. But in the very closeness of the American and British peoples lies the danger of trespass in each others affairs.

There are, for example, British folk who believe that the United States regards Canada as a province of this country. And to get back to our muttons, there are more than a few Americans who are convinced that England looks upon the United States as part and parcel of the British commonwealth of nations, and so subject to the guidance of the mother country.

I hasten to add that there is no suggestion Mr. Churchill harbors any such nonsensical idea. However, the belief of some Americans that this attitude exists in England has been encouraged by the maneuvers of more than one of the army of British propagandists who have been operating in this country ever since the outbreak of the war.

For the most part these workers from overseas haven't overreached the mark. They have passed out their information but haven't intruded on private affairs. Unfortunately this hasn't always been true, for every once in a while a Briton with a crusading gleam in his eyes has landed on our shores with the idea of telling us a few things for the good of our crude souls.

For instance, the other day Colonel Josiah Wedgwood, British member of parliament, was quoted by the New York Journal American as asserting that (1) America ought to go to war, that (2) the "best people" don't go to congress, and that (3) Senator Wheeler was a "wretched appeaser" and should "go soak his head."

Well, of course that's an extreme case which cropped up in hot weather when people's judgment is likely to wander. Most Britons would resent such an outburst as much as Americans do, and would point out that the good colonel was speaking for himself and not for his country. As a matter of fact he himself later expressed regret that he had roughed some folk the wrong way.

Still, it's things of this sort which foster the thought in some American minds that Britain regards us as a dependency, and that at times there has been a tendency on the part of some Britons to intrude where they don't belong. We have been a sovereign nation since the days of the American Revolution, and always will be.

So taking it all in all the normal expectancy would be that in these delicate days the statesmen on both sides of the Atlantic would keep a careful check on their language.

CARDS TO WIN IF INJURIES CEASE, SAYS MANAGER

HURT JINX HAS DOGGED SQUAD ENTIRE SEASON

Lineup At Full Strength For First Time Since Opening Day

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 1.—(AP)—If the Cardinals can dodge the injury jinx the rest of the season the club will win the National league pennant, says Manager Billy Southworth.

The team entered the Brooklyn series, which they split to retain their two-game lead, with the lineup at full strength for the first time since opening day when Catcher Gus Mancuso was removed with a badly bruised and sprained finger.

"Barring further injuries the Cardinals will win the pennant," Southworth asserted. "It is only because of excellent replacements, and because we've really played to win, that the club has stayed on top this long."

Mancuso went out at just the time his experience behind the plate was necessary to balance the roster of young hurlers carried by the club. He was out 11 days.

Before Gus could get back in action, Pitcher Clyde Shoun, veteran workhorse of whom much was expected, jammed his ankle sliding into third base and he limped on the sidelines until May 15. Since then Shoun has been pounded from the box more times than the club would like to remember.

While Mancuso and Shoun were nursing their injuries rightfielder Enos Slaughter, who wields a wicked bat, reported to the team's physician for treatment of an ailment that has caused his removal off and on since the start of the season.

Walker Cooper, brilliant rookie catcher, was the next victim.

He was in a collision at the plate May 18 and came out second best with a broken shoulder blade. Cooper didn't get back into armor until July 13. And old Gus Mancuso was strapped in behind the plate with his legs bandaged and his weary body crying for succor, patiently doing a good job until his younger teammate once more made his appearance

Just a week later, May 25, Slugger Johnny Mize and Second Baseman Frank Crespi each fractured a finger.

Crespi was back seven days later; Mize was out for almost a month but before he returned Third Baseman Jimmy Brown, sparkplug of the infield, went out with a broken hand. Brown's injury, which occurred June 11, kept him off the diamond until July 10.

Don't give up folks, the Cards didn't and there's really a few more.

The next victim was Morton Cooper, pitching mainstay. He was removed June 18 for an elbow operation. July 27 marked his return to health, vim and a turn on the mound.

On July 21 Don Padgett, utility outfielder, catcher and hitter de luxe, checked out with tonsilitis.

Captain Terry Moore, centerfielder, joined the ranks of the injured July 19 with a sprained shoulder. He got back just three days because his replacement, Estel Crabtree, made his exit with a badly bruised hand.

So now you can understand why Southworth considers a pennant a cinch for his Cardinals, barring further injuries.

GASSERS ENTER PLAYOFF FINAL

United Gas Softballers Sweep Preliminary Series With Thom McAn

The United Gas softball team advanced to the finals of the Twilight softball league's championship playoff here yesterday with a 4 to 2 victory over Thom McAn. The Gassers won the preliminary playoff with McAn with two straight victories.

Although George Fruge pitched a two-hit game for United Gas while his teammates were collecting ten hits, his victory was not impressive as all United Gas runs were unearned.

The Gassers will meet the winner of the Hunt and Whitaker-Knights of Pythias playoff for the league championship next week. The Sports, with a one-game lead, meet the Knights this afternoon in their second game and a Hunt and Whitaker victory would send them to the first game of the title playoff with the Gassers next Monday. If the Knights win today, however, a third game will be played Monday to determine the finalist, and the title series will not begin until Wednesday.

The McAn club took the lead in the first inning yesterday when Marshall bunted safely, went to second on Miller's sacrifice, took third on a passed ball and scored on a infield out. They added another in the second when McKeithen tripled and scored on an error.

The Gassers tied the score in the fifth. Davis and Jones hit singles. Then on a double error by right short and center field, both runners scored. In the sixth the Gassers scored twice after Bickham singled and Hopping reached first on an error. Both advanced on an infield out, and Chapman was safe on an error that scored Bickham. Elmore singled to score Hopping.

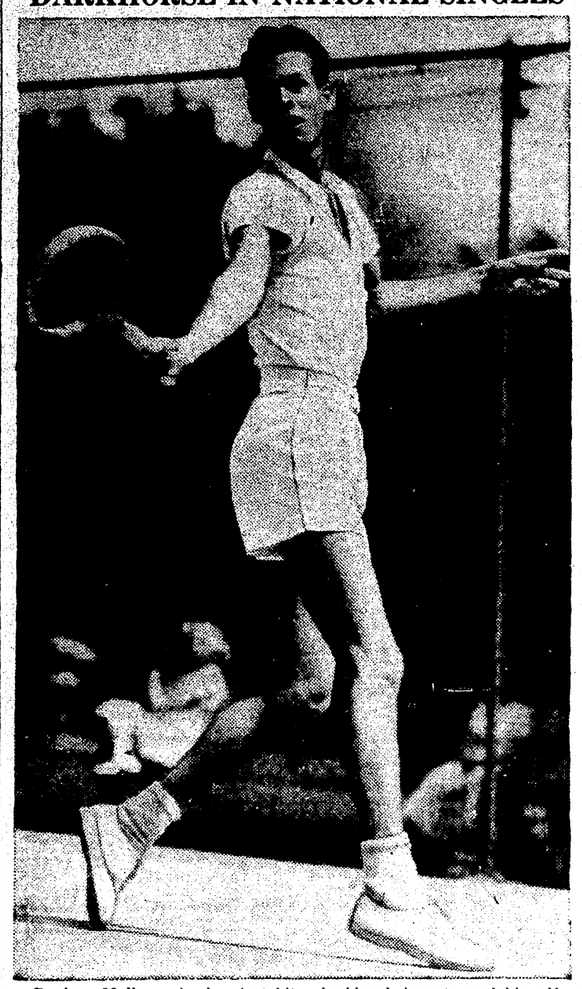
FRENCH CAN'T CAN

VICHY—(AP)—To save France's failing stores of tin, an order by the secretariat of industrial production forbids canning fruits or any foods aside from peas, string beans, sauerkraut, spinach, asparagus, tomatoes, mushrooms and truffles. Only peas, mushrooms and truffles may be put in half-sized cans, which use up more tin.

DARKHORSE IN NATIONAL SINGLES



Gardnar Mulloy, who has just hit a backhand, has stamped himself as strong contender for national singles tennis championship at Forest Hills, August 30-September 6. The rangy Miami boy scored first upset of grass court season, eliminating Frank Kovacs in third round at Seabright, 3-6, 7-5, 6-4.

DODGERS DROP CARDINALS IN SERIES FINAL

Brooklyn Stays In Pennant Race With 9-5 Triumph

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 1.—(AP)—The Dodgers turned on the power and Freddy Fritzsimmons, fat and 40, pitched well in relief as Brooklyn defeated the St. Louis Cardinals 9 to 5 Thursday and pulled back within two games of the National league leaders.

Brooklyn held control and it was Billy Southworth, instead of Whit Wyatt, on whom the Dodgers had pinned their chances of evening the series, was batted out in the third.

That 2-run inning which, added to a single counter in the first matched Brooklyn's 3-run second inning, was the last serious threat of the Cards. Jim Wasdell's homer in the fourth capped a 4-run frame which added to a pair of runs in the seventh made up the Brooklyn scoring.

Dolph Camilli smacked out his nineteenth home run to start the Dodger second. Lew Riggs followed with another. Herman Franks was safe on Frank Crespi's error and Peewee Reese singled to center to send Franks to second and starting Cardinal Pitcher Harry Gumbert to the showers. Wyatt drove in Reese with the third run of the inning after Franks had been picked off second and with the bases loaded and two out Wasdell flied to Terry Moore.

The two clubs have played 15 times this season, not counting Tuesday's 7 to 7 tie, with the Cardinals winning eight and the Dodgers seven.

MILLERS EDGE VOLS

RUSTON, La., Aug. 1.—(Special)—The Crossett Millers hammered two Ruston hurlers for 21 hits to defeat the Volunteers, 11 to 10, here Wednesday, but the invaders had a tough job cutting off a Vol rally at five runs in the ninth inning to win.

Although the Volunteers got hardly more than half the number of hits the visitors chalked up and were behind 11-to-5 when they went to bat in the last of the ninth they kept the crowd on its toes with their thrilling finish.

Led by Mabry with two home runs, a double and a single, every member of the Crossett lineup hit safely at least once. Baker was Ruston's top slugger with a home run, a double and a single.

The Hodge Advanceers, leaders of the Ouachita Valley league, won their tenth straight victory here yesterday afternoon when they defeated the Brown Paper mill Brownies, 7 to 5.

The hitting was even, both clubs getting eleven safe blows. The Brownies used two hurlers, Nethery and Fields, and the Advanceers also used two, Butler and Radovich.

Young, Brown second baseman, was the top hitter for the afternoon, getting three singles in five times at bat.

MONROE BEATS TEXARKANA '9' FOR 2 IN ROW

White Sox Take 10-0 Victory Behind Reeder's 3-Hit Effort

William Edgar Reeder, the tall Texan with the right-handed delivery, overcame his first inning "jinx" in impressive style last night as he shut-

SERIES FINAL TONIGHT

The third and final game of the Texarkana-Monroe series will be played at Casino park tonight, starting at 8 o'clock, and, according to Doug Taitt, Ray Hoffman will start on the mound for the Sox, and Tommy Thompson probably will be the Texarkana hurler, Manager Jakie Atz, Jr., said.

Hoffman will be making his first start for the Sox since he became a "papa" Wednesday. Mr. and Mrs. Hoffman are the proud parents of a seven-pound girl.

The Twins have failed to offer much opposition for the White Sox, and the fans undoubtedly are looking forward to the series which starts Saturday night between the Sox and the Marshall Tigers. Marshall, which makes its first invasion of Casino park, took over the Clarksdale franchise several weeks ago, and Clarksdale always was a thorn in the side of the Monroe club. In fact, the Sox won only three games as against six defeats with the DeSotans when they were operating as Clarksdale. It is the only club which has the edge on the Sox this season.

Saturday will be "ladies night" and a large crowd is expected to turn out for the renewal of the rivalry between the two clubs. A double header will be played Sunday and the Sox end their home stand Monday night with a single game with the Tigers. Monday night children under 16 will be admitted free. It will be the last appearance of the Marshall club here this season.

out the Texarkana Twins on three hits while the Monroe White Sox marched to a 10 to 0 triumph for their second straight victory over the invaders.

In most of his starts for the Sox this season Reeder has run into trouble in the first inning—or the seventh—but last night there was no stopping him after he breezed through the opening frame by setting the Twins down in order.

"If they'd just take the first and seventh innings out of a game I'd be all right," Reeder once remarked after a particularly bad night, but his performance against the Twins was one of the best any Monroe hurler has turned in this season. He fanned seven, walked only one, and hit one batter.

In their two games here during the current series the Twins have gone scoreless in 17 consecutive innings. They scored four runs in the first inning of the opener Wednesday night.

The Sox reached two Texarkana hurlers, Dick Baird and Lieb for ten hits and nine bases on balls. The Twins helped things along for the Sox with five errors.

A base on balls, an error and a wild pitch gave the Sox one run in the first inning. Joe Eagar got the free pass. Englehorn bunted to the pitcher who threw wild to second, allowing Eagar to go on to third and putting Englehorn on second. A wild pitch scored Eagar.

Two more runs came home in the fourth. Jimmy Keith was safe when Charlie Metro missed his outfield fly. Ernie Potocar singled, sending Keith to third, and Potocar took second on a play for Keith at third base. Reeder followed with a single that scored both runners.

Dave Philley walked to start the fifth and scored on Pete Medak's double against the scoreboard near center field. Medak's drive hit high up on the scoreboard and bounced back into the field. He tried to stretch it into a triple but was thrown out at third.

Another run came in the sixth when Eagar walked, stole second and scored on Bob Hill's double into right field.

Guy Pruitt homered over the left field fence for another tally in the seventh, and the Sox added four more runs in the eighth frame off Lieb who pitched that inning only after Baird had been taken out for a pinch-hitter. Englehorn walked. Hill doubled and Philley walked to load the bases. With Medak at bat, Suberville tossed one of Lieb's pitched back too high, allowing Englehorn to score. Medak then got an infield hit, scoring Hill.

The Texarkana players put up quite a squawk when Philley was called safe at second on a play for him at that bag, and during the argument

Louis Isn't Bothered About September Date With Nova

Rates Lou Not As Good As Conn; More Concerned About Golf Game

By Bill Boni

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—(AP)—Joe Louis dropped in on Promoter Mike Jacobs Thursday to discuss "a coupla things we couldn't talk about on the phone." In the space of 45 minutes he had:

Appropriated a flashy red-and-blue necktie which had been around the neck of Joe Gould, manager of Tommy Farr, and Jim Braddock, but which very nicely matched the champ's blue plaid sports shirt.

Put in a boost for Detroit as the site of his September title bout with Lou Nova, for which neither date nor scene have been set.

Rated Nova not so good as Billy Conn, whom he knocked out in 13 rounds in his most recent (and 18th) title defense, because "he's slower and not the boxer Conn is";

Discussed in great detail his golf game, which after only three years already has yielded him a 74 and a string of low 80's.

The champ looked a bit heavy around the jowls, but there was nothing dull about his conversational reactions.

"Nova He's good and tough. But he's not as fast as Conn, and he can't take a punch any better, and I don't think he can hit as hard as I can, so there you are."

Jack Dempsey, someone mentioned, said the other day that if Nova got by the fifth round, the Californian would win.

"Tell Dempsey Conn got by the fifth—and he's faster than Nova."

Did he think he'd beat Nova?

"Well," with a slow, sort of playful grin, "I'm gonna try."

Did he believe in the mystic powers of Yoga, to which Nova subscribes?

"Tony Galento didn't believe in it, did he?" (Galento, you may recall, gave Nova such a beating it took the Californian a year to recover.)

Has the champ any idea of retiring? This time Jacobs provided the answer.

"What's a young man like Joe want to retire for? He's 27. And look at me—I'm 62 and I haven't retired."

When was he going to start training for Nova?

"Oh, not for a while yet—not until after the open golf tournament I'm puttin' on in Detroit August 12-14. $1,000 in cash for the pros, and prizes for the amateurs."

How was his own game?

"Pretty fair. Had me a 74 the other day on the course where they played the National Public lings championship last year, with a par 71. But I like match play better than medal. Medal play, I gotta keep bearin' down all the way around, keep tryin' to improve my score. Match play, I can play one hole at a time. Put up a quarter a hole, and I'm your man. I'll get a lot more 3s and 4s than I will 6s and 7s."

Keller And DiMaggio Furnish Power For Twin Victories

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—(AP)—The pent up power of the New York Yankees flowed over the Detroit Tigers Thursday for a double header victory, 6 to 3 in 13 innings and 5 to 0 in eight.

Charley Keller hit his 26th home run with two on to decide the first game after the Tigers tied the score with two runs in the ninth.

Joe DiMaggio hit his 25th home run with two on in the second session, which was curtailed by darkness, and also singled in both contests to stretch his current hitting streak to 14 games and 70 out of his last 71.

ATHLETICS MOVE UP

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 1.—(AP)—Paced by Benny McCoy's fourth inning home run with the bases full, the Athletics trounced Chicago, 9 to 2, Thursday to replace the Sox in fourth place—the first time in 10 years the A's have been in the first division of the American league race this late in the season.

McCoy's home run—a drive that cleared the right field wall and shattered a window of a new car parked outside Shibe park—was the payoff blow and Athletics' Pitcher Jack Knott coasted to his tenth victory of the season thereafter.

BROWNS, BOSOX SPLIT

BOSTON, Aug. 1.—(AP)—After dropping their seventh straight game to the lowly St. Louis Browns by a 16-11 margin, the Boston Red Sox rallied behind Rookie Tex Hughson's six-hit pitching Thursday to gain a 4-1 triumph in the nightcap, which was called after the first half of the eighth inning because of darkness.

The opening game was a slugfest that lasted three hours and 11 minutes.

Hughson limited the Browns to a half-dozen singles in the abbreviated second game and Rick Ferrell collected three of them.

Dodgers Are Anything But Beaten In Pennant Chase

Brooklyn Ready For 21 Games With Tailenders; Cards Face Tough Ones

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 1.—(AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers still are anything but a beaten ball club.

Although they missed a chance to climb out of second place in the crucial series with the rampant St. Louis Cardinals, one glance at the schedule was enough to perk them up considerably.

The Dodgers have 21 games to play with Boston and the Phillies two last place teams from which they have already won 20 of 25 contests, while the Cardinals, after a 4-game series with Philadelphia, will be faced with the immediate proposition of knocking out the tough boys in order to hold their lead.

"We've been playing the tough clubs for a month," consoled Manager Leo Durocher. "Pretty soon it will be the Cardinals' turn to play Pittsburgh, Chicago and Cincinnati. Maybe things will change."

Durocher took time to explain stories circulating about the country concerning trouble and temperament among the Dodgers are greatly exaggerated.

"Nuts" he bellowed. "I've seen a lot more temperament on many other ball clubs. This gang gets along pretty good. A guy'll kick if he's not hitting. Who wouldn't? I wouldn't want a man on my ball club who could laugh when he failed to hit.

"But there's nothing wrong with us that a little pitching won't cure."

The Dodgers Wednesday acquired Johnny Allen, veteran pitcher, from the St. Louis Browns for the waiver price of $7,500, and the presence in town of Larry MacPhail, general manager, gave rise to rumors other deals may be cooking. Larry conferred twice with Durocher but denied a New York report three other relief hurlers were being hauled up from the minors.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By Eddie Brietz

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—(AP)—One of the yarns going around town is that Fritzie Zivic was hitting too many spots before bumping into Red Cochrane at Newark. . . . The war situation is going to hit southern schools harder than those up this way because more boys in Dixie small towns are members of the National Guard. . . . Only thing certain about the site of the Louis-Nova bout is that Mike Jacobs will stage it where he figures he can make the most sugar. . . . If that circus really wants Jack Dempsey it'll have to up its $3,000-per-week offer by exactly one grand. . . . American League attendance (due in no small part to the DiMaggio streak and the spirit of the Yanks) is 200,000 ahead of last year's figure, but the moguls think it will stump from now on unless the race tightens up.

WHAT GOES ON HERE?

Boy, it sure looked like a star-studded night down in San Juan, Puerto Rico recently. . . . Jack Dempsey knocked out Harry Wills and Lou Nova took a six-round decision from Billy Conn. . . . The fighters were preliminary boys who believe the adoption of famous names bring luck.

PEOPLE AND THINGS

Eddie Leonard, the veteran minstrel man who passed on the other day, was a regular at the Polo Grounds and Yankee Stadium for 40 years. . . . Fred Apostoli, now a boxing instructor at the Norfolk naval station, will resume fighting shortly under Harold Scadron's banner. . . . Coach Tom Lieb is getting ready to close his California summer camp and get back on the job at University of Florida. . . . Those hoss players up in Canada sure are missing the form sheets which no longer can be imported from this side of the border. . . . Tom Harmon's new job at station WJR in Detroit will be sports director, with a little broadcasting of football games on the side. . . . Last season Earl Mann predicted his Atlanta club would sell Slugger Lester Burge for $1,000 per homer and it looks like the kid may belt 40 this year. . . . Incidentally, Bill Terry is going to Atlanta soon to see if Second Baseman Connie Ryan is worth the $25,000 and two players the Crackers want for him.

TODAY'S GUEST STAR

H. V. Wade, Detroit News: "A little more of this sort of baseball and the rest of the league will begin to think of our Tigers as the loyal opposition."

SPORTS COCKTAIL

Dizzy Dean was roasted in Denver for collecting his $800 guarantee and leaving the ball park at the end of two innings when he had contracted to hurl three. . . . Johnny Paychek, one of Joe Louis' victims, is seriously ill in Milwaukee. . . . Johnny Ray and Billy Conn are so lonely in Hollywood they call up their Pittsburgh sports-writing pals two or three times a week just to say hello. . . . Squire Gene Sarazen has his Connecticut ranch operating in the black, with a weekly revenue of $200 from the sale of milk alone. . . . Duke's boxing coach, Andy Warren, is so busy with a big stock farm in Delaware that he'll not return to Duke this year. . . . The 6,800 fans who saw Buddy Knox and Bob Sykes fight in Little Rock the other night set an all-time state record for a boxing match.

BUSINESS NOTE

The Yanks are breezing along like all get-up and the chances are they're definitely off the market. . . . But Mr. Farley and his syndicate might do some business in St. Louis or Philadelphia, if they're still syndicating.

SO SAY WE ALL

His friends and his admirers wish Continued luck for Frankie Frisch. We think his feat deserves attention. Hence this little four-line mention.

TIGERS TO KEEP BAKER AS PILOT

Manager Will Stay Despite Club's Current Losing Streak

DETROIT, Aug. 1.—(AP)—Delmar David Baker will be back next year as head man of the Detroit Tigers, it was established unofficially Thursday even though the club should continue its present dive and loose for the first time in the American league cellar.

Out of the club's current losing streak have grown rumors that the 48-year-old pilot, who somehow got his team last year into the World Series, would be replaced, possibly before the end of the season. Jimmy Dykes of the Chicago White Sox, and Steve O'Neill, one of Baker's lieutenants, were most prominently mentioned as his successor.

White Owner Walter O. Briggs declined to regard the rumors of Baker's dismissal by denying them, neither has he made formal declaration of his intentions to keep the eleventh manager of Detroit's baseball club, which has been in the league four decades.

Such a statement may not be forthcoming at this time, but that doesn't necessarily mean that Baker is slated to be replaced.

The Detroit front office still has profound respect for Baker's reputation as a sound baseball man. That's why almost three years ago to the day they turned to the relatively unknown third-base coach or successor to the Hall-thrower Mickey Cochrane.

REDS EDGE GIANTS

CINCINNATI, Aug. 1.—(AP)—The New York Giants dropped their fifth straight game and eighth in nine starts Thursday when Chuck Aleno hit a pinch single with the bases loaded in the ninth inning for a 6 to 5 Cincinnati victory.

The two teams battled neck and neck most of the way. When the Giants tallied a run in the second on two singles and an error, the Reds rapped back with three singles and a run. When the Giants tore loose three in the third the Reds matched them with three.

Walter Brown walked the first two Cincinnati batters in the ninth. Cliff Melton came in and purposely passed another after Bill Werber had sacrificed. Then Aleno batted for Lonnie Frey and singled two runs across.

SOLDIER DROPS 'YOO HOO' NOTE

ALEXANDRIA, La., Aug. 1.—(AP)—Troops of the 31st (Dixie) division's 116th field artillery regiment had lots to say about Alabama's patriotism on their arrival here today—and they didn't yoo hoo, either.

Great crowds of men, women and children greeted them as their trucks rolled through the state. Many greeters threw flowers into the path of the rumbling troop-carriers en route to maneuvers.

Notes were dropped by the soldiers. An officer found one reading about as follows:

"I am one of the boys not allowed to yoo hoo. How's about writing some time?"

CARBINE COMING BACK INTO USE

Doughboys Will Get Modernized Spanish-American Model Rifle

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—(AP)—The rifle that made many a Redskin bite the dust is coming back into its own in the army.

Modernized and equipped with a semi-automatic firing mechanism, the Carbine that made history with the United States cavalry in the old west soon will be issued by the thousands to officers and men of today's fighting forces. This will be the first general military use of the gun since the Spanish-American war.

Disclosure that new type Carbines had been developed was made yesterday by Secretary Stimson. He said these would replace automatics for all infantry officers up to the rank of major, and also for thousands of doughboys, now equipped only with pistols.

What makes a Carbine a Carbine is the fact that it is much lighter in weight and has a much shorter barrel than other rifles. This, military authorities said, gives it many advantages for special uses, and one veteran infantry officer commenting on its reintroduction said "this is a dream come true."

Perhaps he was recalling the World war experiences of many officers and men armed only with pistols. Then an officer kept his automatic in its holster when leading his troops into battle and armed himself with a rifle if possible. It gave him greater means of self-protection and also made him less distinguishable to enemy snipers as a leader.

Also it has been army practice up to now to arm all the men in machine gun crews with pistols rather than the relatively cumbersome Springfields, although this, it was said, made them less able to defend themselves against attack.

But the new Carbine will change all this. It weighs only about five pounds compared with the Springfield's nine and is only 36 inches long whereas the Springfield is 43. The army's .45 caliber pistol has an effective range of but 50 yards while the Carbine will have an effective range of 300 yards.

BONE CLEANERS

American osteologists import dermestes beetles from Africa to aid them in cleaning the fragile skeletons of the smallest mammals. The bones are chewed clean without any damage by these beetles.

MRS. DICKERSON IS KIWANIS SPEAKER

Mrs. A. L. Dickerson, associated with the FSA, was the principal speaker at the West Monroe Kiwanis club at the weekly luncheon held Thursday noon. She explained some of the workings of this group. Of those receiving aid in Louisiana, 410 live in Ouachita parish she said.

Aid given in this manner has been such that many who a year ago required assistance, have to a large degree been able to get along without help this year. In fact but one-fourth of those thus aided were asking for aid for the current year, she said.

Australia, the largest island in the world, is also the smallest continent.

NEW YORK STOCKS

By Victor Eubank

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—(AP)—It was a stream-lined market for advancing rail stocks today while many industrial leaders were side-tracked at lower levels.

The carriers were up from the start and the majority maintained fractional improvement to the close. There were scattered late recoveries in other departments although most final prices were under water. Transfers were around 650,000 shares.

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—(AP)—A few rails put up a show of resistance in today's stock market but industrials generally lacked rising stamina.

A flop of 2 points by Bethlehem Steel at the opening, blamed on a somewhat disappointing earnings report, tended to chill bullishness elsewhere.

Bonds were mixed. Cotton futures pushed up and other commodities were uneven.

In a ragged curb better performers included Gulf Oil, Pennroad, Electric Bond & Share and Mesabi Iron. Cities Service lagged, along with Brewster Aero and Pantepec.

LAUDS SOVIET WAR EFFORTS

sia did not come under terms of the lease-lend bill and he saw no prospect that she would. The reason, he said, is that Russia is able to pay for the purchase in this country of war equipment to be tossed into the battle against Germany.

No decision may be expected on an additional lease-lend appropriation, the chief executive asserted, until Harry L. Hopkins returns to this country. Hopkins, lease-lend supervisor, now is in Moscow, after having visited London.

Mr. Roosevelt said the only word he had from Hopkins since his arrival in the Russian capital was that he had got there safely.

Mr. Roosevelt would not say whether Hopkins might return by way of China.

To a question on how Hopkins got to Moscow, the president smilingly replied, "on his own two feet." He added that there should not be discussion of movements of both airplanes and ships in these times because the element of human safety was involved.

Mr. Roosevelt had no comment on a suggestion that July had been a definite turn in the war with Russian resistance stiffening.

Nor did he have anything to say on conditions in the Far East or on shipments of oil to Japan. He said, also, he had heard nothing of the possibility of lease-lend aid to the free French allies of Britain.

The president did say that he hoped to get away early next week and go up the coast somewhere where at least the nights would be cool. He said he wanted a week off.

W. R. DAVIS, TEXAS OIL MAGNATE, DIES

HOUSTON, Tex., Aug. 1.—(AP)—William Rhodes Davis, 52, internationally known oilman, died today.

Last January he figured sensationally in a statement by Verne Marshall, chairman of the no foreign war committee, that Davis once carried to the United States a Nazi offer to negotiate an "honorable and just" peace with Germany's foes.

Davis replied immediately he did wish to do all he could in the interests of peace but "I resent the inferences that I am engaged in any activity inimical to the best interest of my country."

He also said, "I have kept the United States department of state fully informed of my activities."

WALLACE DECLARES U. S. WON'T FAIL

BURLINGTON, Ia., Aug. 1.—The preservation of liberty depends on the United States and "we shall not fail," Vice-President Wallace declared last night.

In an internationally broadcast address climaxing the formal opening of the $50,000,000 ordnance plant here, the Iowan said "only by developing our might to the utmost, only by demonstrating through every action and attitude that we are completely willing to go to war if necessary, is there any chance for that peace which we so earnestly desire."

Wallace, whom President Roosevelt yesterday named chairman of a new economic defense board, visited the plant which is beginning to produce thousands of high explosive shells.

"America must be prepared for peace," Wallace asserted. "It must not—this world of peace—be a world of rancor and hate and suspicion and of temporary, makeshift, patchwork decision.

"America must insist that the healthful life lived in freedom and responsibility shouldered for the common welfare must become universal."

The vice-president urged Americans to ignore "a loud minority who give aid and comfort to the enemies of civilization, some unwittingly and others quite wilfully.

"To these false prophets of gloom and chaos, we must give no ear."

ORDERS RESTRICT MEXICAN MOVEMENT

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 1.—(AP)—President Manuel Avila Camacho issued orders today sharply restricting public demonstrations by the powerful Sinarquistas, semi-military movement which government spokesmen have branded as Nazi-Fascist.

He said he took the action in the interest of national unity and warned that violators of his orders would be punished.

The ministries of interior and national defense, state governors and town mayors were instructed to guard against demonstrations by various political groups, "especially Sinarquistas," a statement from the president's office said.

Two Sinarquistas were killed, three police were wounded and several bystanders were hurt during a riot Monday which broke up a Sinarquista rally in Michoacan state.

PREDICT DELAY IF BAN PLACED ON OWNERSHIP

FCC Asked Not To Bar Newspaper Interests From FM Field

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—(AP)—A delay of years in the development of frequency modulation (FM) broadcasting was predicted today if the federal communications commission bars newspapers or newspaper interests from owning and operating FM stations.

The forecast was made by two leaders in FM development, John R. Latham, executive vice-president of the American Network, Inc., and John Shepard, 3rd, president of FM Broadcasters, Inc.

(Frequency modulation is a system of broadcasting using high frequencies and designed to eliminate static.)

Both Latham and Shepard expressed their opinions at length yesterday in testimony before the FCC which is conducting an investigation to determine the commission's future policy regarding acquisition of radio stations by newspaper interests.

Shepard contended that this investigation had served to retard FM development.

Latham, mentioning the reticence of other interests regarding the new radio enterprise, appealed to the commission not to bar newspapers or newspaper interests from FM.

"Such a policy," he asserted, "will delay the development of FM as a broadcasting system for years, will probably make impossible the operation of the FM network proposed by our corporation, or the operation of any worthwhile network to service and provide programs for FM stations."

The American network, Latham said, proposes to provide programs for FM stations serving 40 key cities. A definite FCC announcement that it would not attempt to make rules and regulations which would have the effect of preventing newspapers or newspaper interests from owning and operating FM stations, Latham said, would "make it possible to go ahead immediately and complete the organization and financing of the company, and in short order make high quality programs available to FM stations affiliated with the network."

Of twenty-three who contributed $500 each to defray the cost of network surveys and investigations, Latham said 11 contributors were either newspaper publishing companies or persons connected directly or indirectly with newspaper publishing.

Shepard, who also is president of the Yankee network, said the FM field should be open to American citizens with the technical and financial ability to "render a real service to the potential listening public."

The commission yesterday also heard five hours of testimony centering chiefly on whether local radio programs should be printed free as news or charged for as advertising.

Chairman James Lawrence Fly commented at one point that he regarded local station programs as having "reader interest" and that most papers carried them as news.

J. T. RICHARDSON IS VISITING HERE

Private James T. Richardson, United States marine corps, who recently reenlisted at the marine barracks at the New York navy yard, after he had completed a period of four years in service, is now a guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Richardson, 709 Wood street, according to an announcement made by Sergeant E. B. Stock, of the local recruiting station.

Richardson first enlisted in the corps in July, 1937, at New Orleans, and has served at Shanghai, Peiping, Tientsin, and Chinwangtao, China; at San Diego and Mare Island, Calif.; and also at Norfolk and Quantico, Va. Upon the expiration of his present furlough, he will report to the marine barracks, naval air station, Corpus Christi, Tex., for duty.

Private Richardson has qualified as an expert rifleman and as a sharpshooter with the service pistol. He said that he expects to remain with the marine corps until he retires after serving 20 or 30 years.

HOLIDAYS RATIONED

BLACKPOOL, England—(AP)—Several seaside resorts are "rationing" summer holidays. They won't book rooms for more than a fortnight to prevent people from monopolizing accommodations wanted by war workers on short leave.
